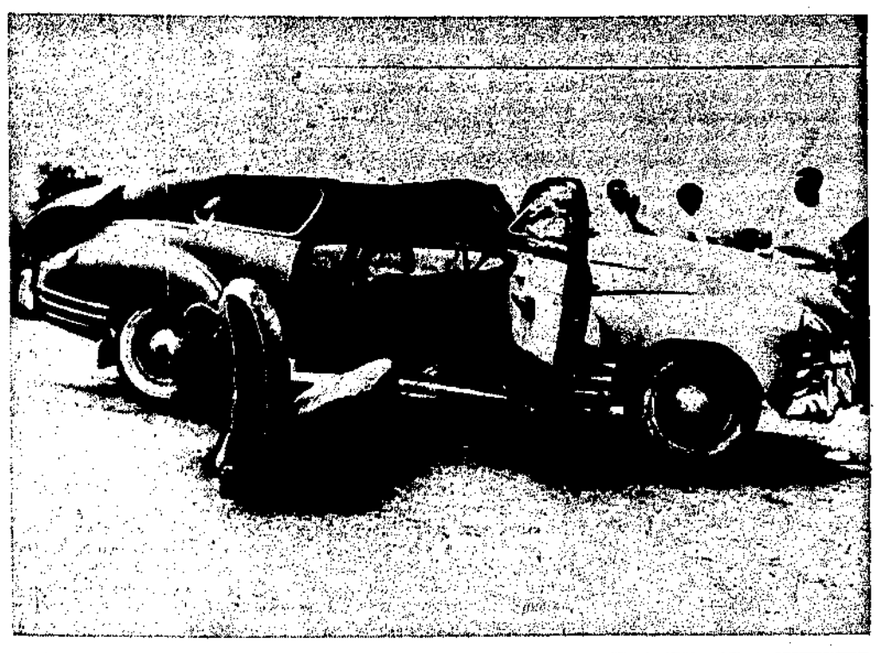
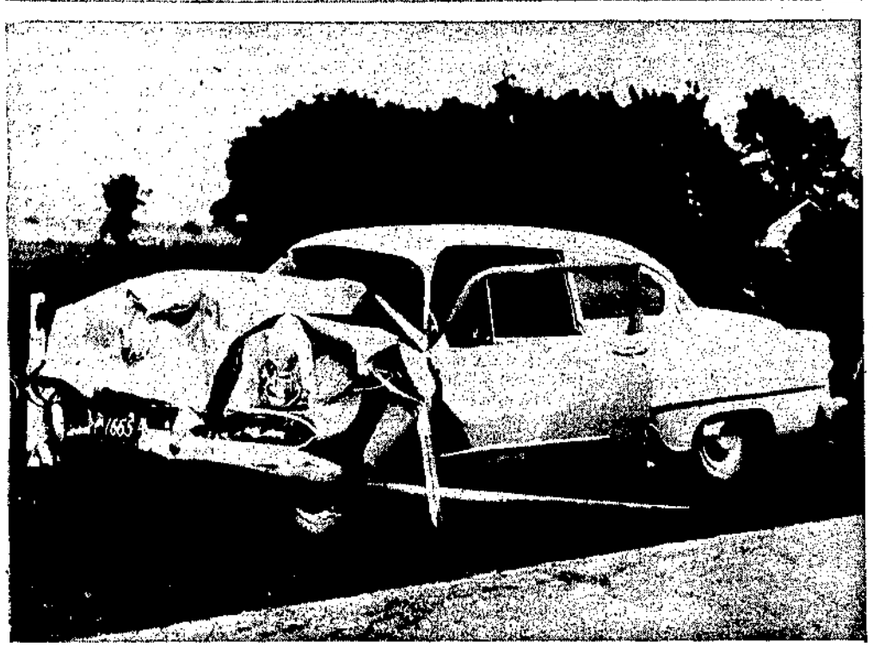
Crash of Huge B36 Bomber Fatal to 24 in South Dakota

Victim of Crash Still Critical





CARS INVOLVED IN FATAL ACCIDENT. Pictured here are the two cars in which a Kentucky man met death and five other persons were injured, one critically, when they collided just south of Marion on Route 23 shortly after noon Friday.

UPPER: Mathew Barney, 26, of Riggs, Ky., driver of this south-bound car, was killed almost instantly in the accident in which he suffered a broken neck. A passenger, Robert H. Whitmore Jr., 35, of Toledo, is in "critical" condition today at Marion City Hospital.

LOWER: Mrs. Geraldine Roberts, 26, the driver of this car, and her husband, Carl, 33, of Delaware, are in "good" and "fairly good" condition at the hospital. Other passengers were Verne Andrews, 29, and his wife, Jane, 27, who were treated and released, and seven-year-old Bobby Andrews, who escaped injury.

Quick Union Okay Seen on Rubber Pact

6½-Cent Hike To End Long Goodyear Strike; Pattern Believed Set

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—About 23,000 Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. workers vote today on an agreement to end a 52-day-old strike in exchange for hourly pay boosts averaging 6½ cents.

CIO United Rubber Workers officials who negotiated the settlement in Cleveland late yesterday indicated they expected quick ratification by union locals here and in St. Marys, Ohio, Jackson, Mich., New Bedford, Mass., Windsor, Vt., Muncie, Ind., Lincoln, Neb., Gadsden, Ala., Topeka, Kans. and Los Angeles.

Firestone Talks Speed Up

The prospect of Goodyear resuming production next week after the longest strike in the company's history spurred efforts to find a settlement in the rubber industry's other big strike, against Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.

An unusual all-day Saturday session in the Firestone dispute was scheduled in Cleveland today at the request of company negotiators, a union spokesman said. The walkout of 25,000 Firestone workers enters its third week today.

Progress was reported by the union in Firestone negotiations yesterday. Seniority, job security and many other matters not involved in the Goodyear situation are at issue. The entire Firestone contract is being negotiated whereas at Goodyear the strike came on wage clause reopening.

Others May Follow

Wage reopening clause negotiations also are in progress with the other two firms of the rubber industry's Big Four — U. S. Rubber Co. in New York, and B. F. Goodrich Co. in Cincinnati. On the basis of past practice, observers here looked for settlements following the Goodyear pattern.

A source close to the Goodyear negotiations estimated the raises agreed to yesterday would cost that firm about $6,500,000 annually. All Goodyear employes will get at least six cents more an hour. The 1,200 workers in Topeka will get an additional four cents, and 2,500

3 Are Listed As 'Critical' At Rapid City

Hits Hill, Bursts Into Flames in Attempt To Land at Air Base

RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP)—A huge B36 bomber carried at least 24 crewmen to death last night when it crashed and burned during a landing attempt at Ellsworth Air Force Base near here.

The public information office said three other crewmen aboard the plane were in "very critical" condition at the base hospital. The bodies of the dead were badly torn and burned.

Flames Delay Search

At first searchers were kept away from the fuselage section of the broken ship by roaring flames. However, they were able to remove the last bodies about 6 a.m.

Officers said the heavy casualty list slowed the task of notifying the next of kin. No public identification of victims will be made until this is accomplished.

The blazing ship set several brush and grass fires. These were brought under control.

The B36 is the nation's largest bomber with a wing span of 230 feet and a length of more than 162 feet. It took off from the base yesterday and had been on a routine training flight at the time of the crash.

The wreckage was scattered widely over a quarter mile area, one officer reported. He described the weather as "perfect" at the time the ship was to have landed.

Plane Struck Hill

Officers said the plane apparently struck a small hill as it approached the lengthy runway and was burst apart and fired within seconds. It came down about a mile and a half from the base on the ranch of Alfred Swallow located about 13 miles west of this southwestern South Dakota city of 25,000.

Names of all victims were being withheld pending notification of next of kin.

France's Assembly Begins EDC Debate

PARIS (AP) — France's National Assembly began its long-heralded debate today on the explosive European Defense Community issue. But EDC supporters were striving to delay the vote they fear will kill off the treaty.

As the showdown hour approached there was much uncertainty whether Premier Pierre Mendes-France would be able to stay in office amid the buffeting from opponents and supporters of the treaty.

Moch To Report

The Assembly was scheduled to begin debate formalities today with a report on the project by Jules Moch of the Foreign Affairs Committee who is expected to urge its rejection.

After Moch and other committee members make their reports Mendes-France may take the floor to outline his position. At this point a move to postpone the debate may be brought up. Highly placed informants say the government might be willing to accept a delay.

No Decision Reached

Mendes-France tried his hand at modifying the pact last week in Brussels but he ran into a stone wall of opposition from the other five countries. But the pro-EDC elements claim the Premier demanded changes that were too drastic and that he showed no willingness to meet the views of the other nations.

Talks between this group of treaty supporters and political friends of Mendes-France went on for hours yesterday but no decision was reached. Finally the discussions were broken off for the night after the Premier asked to think it over until morning.

Among those maneuvering for more time and modifications in the treaty are former Premiers Rene Mayer, Paul Reynaud and Robert Schuman.

The other five nations had three main objections to Mendes-France's proposals:

1. They watered down the supranational characteristics of the treaty.

2. They discriminated against Germany.

3. Many of them would require re-ratification by the parliaments of the nations which already had ratified.

President Due To Sign Farm Bill in Colorado

Measure Represents Triumph for Forces Behind Administration

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower today signs into law a farm bill representing a major administration victory—a measure he says will provide more food, make production more efficient and stabilize farm income.

The President's vacation headquarters announced his plans to sign legislation (probably before noon, MST) for which he fought perhaps more vigorously than he did for any other program he submitted to the 83rd Congress.

The measure, however, is something of a compromise on Eisenhower's request for broad powers to deal with farm price supports and accumulated food surpluses valued at many millions of dollars.

In his nationwide radio-television address last Monday on the record of the 83rd Congress, Eisenhower said that when he took office those surpluses had become "unmanageable" and that under existing law they continued to grow "at an alarming rate." They were depressing farm market prices, he declared. Then, alluding to the program he is signing into law today, said:

"Now we have a program that will encourage efficient production, will stimulate production, and stabilize farm income."

Both supporters and critics of the President's controversial proposals generally agreed his suc-

16,000 Fair-Goers Hike Gate Receipts To Record $12,261

Despite rain which hurt attendance the last two days, the 104th annual Marion County fair drew a record six-day crowd of some 25,000 persons, fair board officials announced today.

Victor Kreis, treasurer, reported that total receipts from gate, automobile parking and grandstand this year were $12,261.70. There were some 16,000 paid admissions at the gate.

This was slightly higher than for the last two years. No records for 1953 were readily available but records for 1952 showed total paid admissions of 14,820. Fair board officials said 1953 was a slightly better year than 1952 and this year was better still.

Farmers' Vote Drive Started By Democrats

Midwestern Leaders Uncertain of Position On Agriculture Issue

SIOUX FALLS, S. D. (AP)—Midwestern Democratic leaders met here today to start a drive for the farm vote in November, but uncertain as to whether they stand united on an agricultural issue.

This uncertainty was supplied mainly by Adlai Stevenson, the party's titular leader and the principal speaker at a conclave drawing many candidates for Congress from 15 states—from Indiana to Wyoming and North Dakota and Minnesota to Oklahoma.

Big Issue

Many of the leaders wanted the party to go all out in making the Eisenhower administration's farm program the big issue in a fall campaign in which Democrats hope to regain control of Congress.

They propose to make the party's main attack—in farming areas—on flexible farm price supports which the GOP-controlled Congress recently passed at the behest of President Eisenhower.

But was Stevenson ready and willing to go along with them on this particular issue?

That was a big question which the party leaders asked one another. Particularly active at the meeting were many former Agriculture Department officials under the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. Included were former Secretaries of Agriculture Claude Wickard and Charles F. Brannan, and several former officials in the now defunct Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Hope for Blast by Adlai

These men made no secret of the fact that they were hoping that Stevenson, in a speech to be given at a dinner tonight, would use his choicest words in denouncing flexible supports and endorsing high price floors, scheduled to expire at the end of this year.

Under the flexible system, price props for such crops as wheat, corn, cotton, rice and peanuts rise or fall in relation to the size of supplies. They go up when supplies

3 Persons Remain At Hospital After Fatal Collision

Robert H. Whitmore Jr., 35, of Toledo, remains in "critical" condition today in Marion City Hospital, following a two-car collision early Friday afternoon south of Marion which claimed the life of the driver of the car in which he was passenger.

Killed almost instantly in the 12:40 p.m. accident on Route 23 was Mathew Barney, 26, of Riggs, Ky.

IN "GOOD" condition at the hospital is Mrs. Geraldine Roberts, 26, of Delaware, driver of the northbound automobile involved in the collision. Her husband, Carl, 33, is in "fairly good" condition. Investigating state highway patrolmen said the accident occurred when Barney, southbound, pulled from behind a car driven by Robert Schieswohl, 29, of Mansfield, and collided with the Roberts vehicle.

Schieswohl escaped injury when he avoided the collision by going into the ditch. Minor damage was reported to his automobile. He was alone in the car.

Treated for abrasions and contusions and released at the hospital were Verne Andrews, 29, and Mrs. Jane Andrews, 27, of near Ostrander, passengers in the Roberts vehicle. Seven-year-old Bobby Andrews, a fifth passenger, was not injured, patrolmen said.

The Kentucky man suffered a

Free Business System Hailed By Churchmen

Private Enterprise Aid In Economic Progress Commended at Parley

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Churchmen from many lands—including some from the Communist side of the Iron Curtain—have commended private enterprise as a spur to economic progress.

A report to that effect was approved late yesterday at the Assembly of World Council of Churches.

Main Points

The declaration, regarded as a shift to the right in the organization's position on economic matters, made these points:

The spread of governmental action in economic affairs "has been accompanied by a fresh recognition of the importance of relative freedom in enterprise and of the role of the price system."

Churches have been "properly critical" of monopolistic and irresponsible business practices but, at its best, the private business system "has provided incentives for the responsible initiative and hard work which produces economical progress."

Government Role

The report also maintained that government must be ready to "counteract depression or inflation" and to "relieve the impact of unemployment, industrial injury, low wages, unfavorable working conditions, sickness and old age."

Hurricane Heads Toward Carolinas

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A growing hurricane with winds up to 115 miles an hour inched toward the north northwest today. All interests in North and South Carolina were placed on the alert.

The small but powerful hurricane was about 300 miles east of Jacksonville, Fla., with a forward movement of less than five miles per hour.

Hurricane winds extended outward 50 miles from the center and gales extended 100 miles.

Earth Changes Color

Veteran Air Force Pilot Describes 17-Mile Climb

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Trees turn olive drab and dry grass looks like straw from 17 miles up, says the man who flew higher in the sky than any other human.

And the earth really looks round up there, observes Maj. Arthur Murray, the 35-year-old Pennsylvanian who started his military career on a horse and recently broke the world's altitude record.

'Roundness Shows Clearly'

Colors on earth "seemed to start changing," its roundness showed clearly and the sun was "so much brighter it was almost blinding," he told a press conference yesterday.

The conference followed an Air Force announcement the veteran combat and test pilot was the man who took a Bell X1A rocket-powered experimental aircraft to new heights.

Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbott announced the record last Saturday but withheld announcement of the pilot's name until yesterday. Exact date of the record-breaking flight—or flights, nobody is saying which — and the exact altitude still are Air Force secrets.

Near 90,000 Feet

But informed observers speculate the new record must be in the neighborhood of 90,000 feet.

The former record, set Aug. 21, 1953, by Marine Corps Lt. Col. Marion Carl in a Douglas Skyrocket D558-II, was 83,235 feet.

Maj. Murray said as he went to record altitudes areas of the earth covered with dry grass turned bright straw colors. And the greens of vegetation looked olive drab.

But the brightness was the most notable experience. Early in a series of "about 10" high altitude flights the sun was so bright "I was not able to read the data pad fastened to my knee," the major noted.

New Data Collected

On later flights this situation was improved by using data pads printed on dark backgrounds.

'The flight was of great value," he declared. "It enabled us to collect data not available before."

Legionnaires Invade Capital For Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tide of incoming American Legionnaires rose toward flood stage today as this bunting hung capital threw wide its arms to receive them.

With the Legion's 36th and possibly biggest convention due to open Monday, planes, trains, buses and cars were bringing in loads of blue and gold clad legionnaires and their families.

While the Legionnaires checked in at their hotels and broke out their cameras and traditional walking sticks, the organization's National Security and Child Welfare Commissions were hard at work on resolutions to be brought before the convention's business sessions.

This was military affairs day before the National Security Commission, which heard yesterday from a series of Congress members and government officials on atomic, foreign policy and civil defense matters.

Gen. Thomas D. White, vice chief of staff of the Air Force, said in a prepared talk that the United States may have to build more than its projected 126 combat air wings if Russia continues to lower the living standards of her people in quest for greater air and atomic power.

White said American long range offensive air power remains a "sharp axe poised over the Communist neck." White said the United States still has more long range fighting planes than the Russians, but that the gap is narrowing.

Debt Limit Hike May Be Inadequate, Ike Claims

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed legislation authorizing a temporary 6 billion dollar increase in the present 275 billion dollar national debt ceiling, and declared the hike "may prove inadequate."

Caught After Chase

Driver Flees in Cruiser As Officer Investigates

Making off with a state highway patrol car while the patrolman was investigating an accident in which he was involved was not too good an idea, an Akron man learned this morning.

Chester Melvin Spencer Jr., 32, of Akron, was to be arraigned today before Mayor Donald Healea in Cardington on an auto larceny charge following the morning's events.

For Patrolman F. E. Scott of the Marion post, it started as a routine call around 7:30 a.m. Arriving at Cardington, Patrolman Scott learned that Spencer's car had struck a parked car near a railroad crossing.

Patrolman Scott, assisted by a passerby, was taking some necessary measurements when an onlooker notified him that Spencer was driving off with his patrol car

The patrolman commandeered a car owned by James Foltz of Cardington and went in pursuit. He chased Spencer south on Route 42, and apprehended him just inside the city limits of Delaware.

Scott took possession of his own patrol car and brought Spencer to the Marion patrol post where he was questioned by Sgt. H. T. Cowell of the Bucyrus post.

Spencer was taken to Mayor Healea's court to face arraignment on the auto larceny charge.

The parked car which Spencer struck in Cardington belongs to Mayor Healea.

Motorist Has Stark Deputies Buffaloed

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A motorist had the sheriff's office buffaloed.

Protesting his sobriety, he telephoned to report four buffaloes along the Waco-Mapleton Road Friday night.

A patrol car verified the report, and another car appeared on the scene. That made four deputies available, but they decided not to tackle the four animals.

The natural place to inquire was at Tony Diano's ranch near North Industry. Tony has a private zoo and several times has hit the circus trail. Sure enough, four of his buffaloes had jumped a fence.

50,000 Attend Ohio State Fair

Opening Day Crowd Smaller Than in 1953

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Industrial exhibits and horses—the jumpers as well as the plodders—are in the spotlight today at the sprawling Ohio State Fair.

The fair pays tribute today to industrial manufacturing, with exhibits in the new merchants and manufacturers building and the machinery and commercial exhibits buildings.

Frisky western horses, hunters and jumpers are featured in the horse show at the coliseum, where preliminary judging of percheron and Belgian draft horses also is being conducted in preparation for the National Percheron Show, the tenth annual National Belgian Show and the big 38th Eastern Percheron Futurity next week.

Some 40,000 youngsters were estimated to have been among the 50,000 at the fair for yesterday's Youth Day program.

The attendance was considerably below the 80,000 forecast for opening day by fair officials, who hope to see last year's total of 489,000 topped before the 8-day 1954 fair folds its tents.

At the 25-year-old junior fair, Manager Robert D. Jones reported sheep entries 20 per cent higher than last year, while the number of steer entries was down 33 per cent and dairy cattle entries down 20 per cent.

He said hog entries in Future Farmers of America and 4-H classes were up 6 per cent.

The decline in livestock entries, Jones said, was caused by fear of heat, which last year brought hardship to some animals.

First award in a 4-H livestock judging event went to Champaign County's 4-H team, composed of Ronald Welch, William Miller and John Stimmel. High scores individually in the judging was Paul Wilson of Clark County. Second and third best at judging were Delaware and Clark counties, respectively.

Licking County's team of Harley Reese, Walter Baughman and Ronald Hayes won first place in 4-H beef cattle judging, with Reese taking top individual honors.

TRUCKER DROWNS AFTER BRIDGE CRASH. Rescue squad members grapple for the body of trucker identified as Jack Briggs, 47, of Suffolk, Va., after the cab of his tractor-trailer truck plunged into the Rancocas creek near Riverside, N. J. Police said the truck, loaded with 15 tons of peanut oil, was traveling north on Rt. 130 when the driver apparently fell asleep at the wheel and the truck swerved against the bridge railing, with the tractor seperating from the trailer. Wheels of the tractor unit are at the bottom of photo.

While not permitted to talk of equipment, Maj. Murray said the plane ran into problems not previously encountered or expected.

He hinted control was difficult in the thin air of high altitudes.

The X1A is a bullet-like craft capable of a speed of at least 1,650 m.p.h.

The major has been doing his experimental flying at Edwards Air Force Base in California. He is in Dayton as projects officer for the National Aircraft Show Sept. 4-6.

A native of Cresson, Pa., he rode horses in the Cavalry as an enlisted man in 1939. He shifted to the Air Force during World War II and flew 50 combat missions in North Africa. Maj. Murray is married and the father of four children.

Marion Horse Winner In State Fair Competition

A 16-year old Marion County girl's palomino horse won a blue ribbon at the Western Horse Show at the Ohio State Fair Friday night.

Judy Pendergast, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Pendergast of north of Marion, rode her horse, "Little Sandusky," to victory in competition with several other horses in the palomino class.

She said after winning the ribbon that the horse performed well in the show. Judy has won numerous prizes and awards with "Little Sandusky" for the last two years.

Diary Tells of Crime

Girl, 16, Pal, Convicted For Murder of Mother

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — Two teen-agers, described in court as "dirty-minded little girls," were convicted of murder today for beating the mother of one girl to death with a brick. They were sentenced to indefinite prison terms.

The pair are Pauline Yvonne Parker, 16, and Juliet Marion Hulme, 15.

As they are under 18, their crime is not punishable by death. They were ordered "detained at Her Majesty's pleasure." Such a blanket sentence is often used in British courts in cases involving adolescents, where there is a chance conditions may change later and a review would be warranted.

The defense said there was no doubt the girls killed Pauline's mother, Mrs. Honora Mary Parker, with a brick knotted in a stocking, but it was contended the pair were insane.

The murdered woman was found in a Christchurch public park last June 22 with 45 head, face and hand injuries. The girls claimed at first she had slipped and hit her head.

Prosecutor Alan Brown told the jury the slaying was "coldly, callously premediated murder committed by two dirty-minded girls who were sane at the time." They were not incurably insane but incurably bad," he declared.

Portions of Pauline's diary were read during the hearing. An entry read: "Why couldn't mother die? Thousands are dying daily so why not mother?"

Later: "We are both very thrilled with the idea. Naturally we feel a trifle nervous, but the pleasure of anticipation is very great."

The June 21 entry: "We have decided to use a rock in a stocking rather than a sandbag. We discussed the murder fully. The happy event is to take place tomorrow afternoon. The next time I write in my diary mother will be dead. How odd, yet how pleasing."

The entry dated June 22 read: "Day of a happy event. Felt very excited and night-before-Christmassy last night. Didn't have pleasant dreams though."

Churchmen

Christians were urged to work for "improved national or local welfare legislation and for the provision of adequate medical care."

The report advocated increased production and "a greater measure of equity in the distribution of wealth and income."

It said farmers should have "a reasonable measure of security of income."

It also suggested that trade union, farmer and employer associations and other groups should be responsible to their members and society as a whole.

Differs from '48 Report

The statement—endorsed unanimously by representatives of 163 denominations in 48 countries—differed in its treatment of capitalism and government's role in society from the report adopted at the Council's first assembly at Amsterdam in 1948.

The Amsterdam report said there were "conflicts between Christianity and capitalism." That report also said the church should "reject the ideologies of both communism and laissez-faire capitalism" and should work for a "coherent and purposeful ordering of society."

The report brought in yesterday was drafted by the Committee on Responsible Society. It is divided into three sections The first section, dealing with economic policies, was approved. Action on the other two sections was deferred until today.

Hungarians Back Report

Bishop John Peter of Hungary, a delegate from behind the Iron Curtain who is here on a limited visa, told the Assembly before the vote was taken that the Hungarian delegation would vote for the report.

In apparent reference to the second section, which discusses tension between Communist and non-Communist peoples in mild terms, he stated the report is a "new starting point" toward better understanding between churches of the West and of the Soviet-dominated sphere.

The Assembly also endorsed, in effect, a report on the convention's main theme: "Christ — The hope of the World."

The report stresses Christian confidence both in spreading Christ's ideals in this world and hope for a perfect "kingdom" after Christ's second coming.

That action still is subject to a confirming vote after minor revisions in wording.

Racket-Tinged ILA Wins N.Y. Election

NEW YORK (AP) — The International Longshoremen's Assn. (Ind) has been recognized as bargaining agent for the Port of New York's 25,000 dockers, climaxing a bitter battle with the AFL Pier Workers' Union.

In Washington yesterday, the National Labor Relations Board announced it would immediately certify the ILA as winner in the May 26 election over the International Brotherhood of Longshoremen.

The struggle for control of East Coast piers started last September when the AFL ousted the ILA on grounds it had failed to rid its ranks of racketeers.

Since then the sprawling New York-New Jersey waterfront has been the scene of strikes, violence, one abortive bargaining election, and federal and state intervention to keep peace on the docks.

The ILA won the first election last December but the NLRB threw out the results, charging the old union used coercion and intimidation during the balloting.

Doubts on Fair Trial Disputed By Prosecutor

CLEVELAND (AP)—The prosecution today disputed a defense contention that because of publicity it is doubtful Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard can receive a fair trial here.

Assistant County Prosecutor John J. Mahon said he does not share the doubts expressed yesterday in a 3,500-word statement issued by attorneys William J. Corrigan and Fred W. Garmone.

In his 23 years of legal experience, Mahon said, he has yet to hear of where publicity precluded getting an impartial jury.

Dr. Sheppard, 30-year-old osteopath, is in the county jail awaiting trial for the July 4 slaying of his pregnant wife, Marilyn, 31.

Despite the lengthy statement criticizing the handling of the case by police and newspapers, Corrigan said he was undecided on whether to ask the trial be held elsewhere.

It was held likely, however, that such a motion would be made when preparations begin for the trial, probably in October.

The statement said newspapers generally have "reported and editorialized" on the case so that Dr. Sheppard was "convicted in the minds of the public before he was arrested."

Dr. Sheppard later posed for photographers in his cell, but on the advice of Corrigan refused to answer reporters' questions.

"I've been misquoted enough," he said in reply to a query on how he was feeling.

Wife and Mother Is Bridge Tender

HALLANDALE BEACH, Fla. (UP) — When a boat on the inland waterway signals three short blasts, Mrs. Alberta Bruneau puts aside the family wash and makes a beeline for the drawbridge.

Mrs. Bruneau, an energetic, young homemaker, is one of the few female bridge-tenders in the nation. She helps her husband tend the drawbridge over the famed waterway and also finds time for her three children and her household duties.

Her home, furnished by the state road department, is right by the bridge, so she manages to do her housework even though she dashes out to open the bridge from 80 to 125 times a day.

She and her husband take turns on the 24-hour watch, even during the hurricane season.

"We batten down," she said, "but we still have to get up for the bridge."

It didn't take Mrs. Bruneau long to learn how to operate the electrically-controlled draw, which is run from a tiny shack atop the bridge. And she is never too harassed by impatient boat captains.

"They always blow their whistles well in advance," she said.

He will rest three days, and then start out again.

Two Break-Ins Investigated by County Sheriff

Seventeen packs of cigarets or 17 quarters were taken from the Mar-O-Del Golf Course club house in one of two break-ins reported by the Marion County sheriff's office.

In the other break-in, at the Consumers Gas Co., south of Marion on Route 4, nothing was missing, although the office was ransacked, deputies reported.

At the Mar-O-Del breakin, which happened some time Thursday night, a window was pried open to gain entry to the building and a vending machine was broken into to get either the cigarets or money

Ray Augenstein, manager, reported the break-in Friday to the sheriff's office.

Entry to the Gas Company office was made by breaking out a small office window, valued at three dollars. The break-in occurred sometime after 5 p.m. Friday night, Wayne Martin, manager, reported this morning.

Both break-ins are under investigation by the sheriff's office.

Girl, 5, Slightly Injured in City Traffic Mishap

A 5-year-old Marion pedestrian was slightly injured in one of two minor traffic accidents reported today by city police. Sheriff's deputies reported one minor, no injury accident on county roads.

Hurt with bruises and cuts in the city was Fanny Lanford of 495 Decatur St. She was injured when she apparently ran into the street and into the side of a car driven by Mrs. Opal L. Schneider of 441 Jefferson St. in front of 487 Decatur St. at 4:30 p.m. Friday.

Mrs. Schneider told police she was driving south on Decatur when the girl ran west across the street into the left side of the car. Mrs. Schneider took her to a doctor's office for treatment.

Only other accident in the city was a one-car collision with a tree in front of the residence of Mrs. Rose Issleib at 947 Mt. Vernon Ave. at 11:28 a.m. Friday. G. F. Koerner, 72, of Urbana, driver of the car said his right front tire blew out and threw the car out of control into the tree. Damage was light to the car and the tree.

Driver Uninjured

Thomas L. Anson, 16, of near Prospect, reported to the Marion County sheriff's office Friday that his automobile struck a fence owned by L. T. Nickelson on County Road 119. He was not injured, he told deputies.

broken neck, fractured and crushed head and chest, and lacerations and abrasions. He was taken in a Boyd ambulance, and was removed this morning from the local funeral home by the Riggs-Sammons Funeral Home of Greenup, Ky.

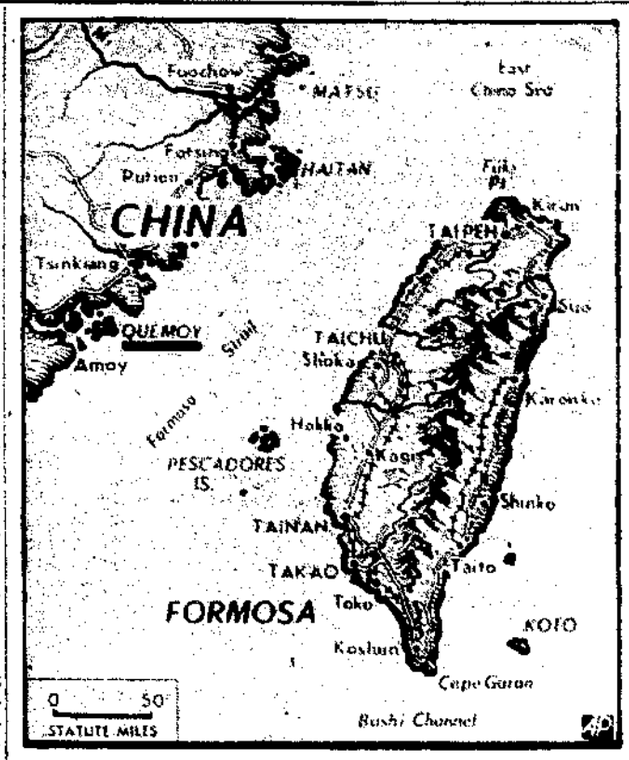
WHITMORE sustained a fractured skull, crushed chest, and fractured left arm. It was not known where the two men were going at the time of the accident.

Mrs. Roberts sustained abrasions of the right knee and elbow, while her husband suffered fractured ribs and injuries to the spine and right elbow.

The accident occurred a short distance north of the Marion County Children's Home. Traffic on the highway was tied up approximately an hour for nearly a mile in both directions.

The accident is still under investigation by the patrol.

We wish the Navy, Air Force, etc., would quit inventing marvelous new airplanes, as we're still trying to believe the ones that came out about five models ago.



WHERE INVASION REPORTED. Peiping Radio claimed "People's Liberation Forces" successfully landed on the Nationalist-held island of Quemoy (underlined), just a few miles off the Red Chinese mainland, on the night of Aug. 23. There was no immediate confirmation from Nationalist sources at Taipeh.

cess marked the biggest and hardest-fought administration victory in the recent session of Congress.

Could Decide Party Control

Many politicians believe that the omnibus farm bill—changing the direction and pattern of 20 years of government programs—may decide party control of Congress during this campaign year when all House members and more than one third of the Senate face re-election.

In general, the 1954 farm act gives Secretary of Agriculture Benson authority to move government farm price supports up or down.

It also provides new methods for disposal of more than six billion dollars worth of farm surpluses that may bulge to near 10 billions before the year ends.

Biggest change is an end with this year's crops to the mandatory, rigid supports at 90 per cent of parity that were installed during World War II to stimulate production of wheat, cotton, corn, rice and peanuts.

They are classed as "basic crops" by law.

Parity is a formula designed to assure farmers a fair return in relation to the price of things they buy.

A sixth basic crop, tobacco, retains 90 per cent support as long as farmers continue to approve strict controls over planting and marketing enforced by heavy penalties.

A most satisfactory victory for Benson and the administration was congressional backing for his move slashing dairy price supports one-sixth — from 90 to 75 per cent of parity — last April 1.

The whole Indochina fiasco is being reviewed by the deep-dish brains, but the bopsters can boil it down better than they can into "let's just say somebody goofed."

Police Recover Auto Used in Hotel Robbery

An automobile stolen in Marion County and used as a get-away car following an armed robbery at the Snyder Hotel Tuesday night was found abandoned in Columbus Friday morning.

Recovery of the car, which was stolen from the Marion Lincoln-Mercury repair garage on Route 4 south of the city limits, was reported to the Marion County sheriff's office by Columbus police at about 10:20 a.m. Friday. Columbus police reported there were no keys in the car when found.

It was apparently stolen by a teen-age boy who later walked into the lobby of the Snyder Hotel on N. State St. and held up the room clerk escaping with some $13 from the cash register.

Witnesses told police they saw a car drive through an alley near the hotel minutes after the robbery which fit the description of the stolen car. The car was also reported seen a few minutes later in the southwest section of the city after which all trace of it was lost until it was recovered in Columbus Friday.

Underwater Treatment

ITHACA, N. Y. (UP) — A Cornell University professor has devised a means of treating wood in underwater structures for protection against marine borers.

John C. Ayers, associate professor of oceanography, conducted experiments in which treated wood remained free from borers after more than two years in the water.

The wood is soaked in solutions of copper sulfate and sodium hydroxide. The method is being studied for use in protecting fence-posts against underground bacteria.

Ike Supporter In Re-Election Battle in Texas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers and his opponent for re-election — Ralph Yarborough — squared off today in a Democratic runoff primary hailed as an Eisenhower popularity test.

The vote was expected by many to exceed the 1,348,000 total cast in the July 24 primary in which Shivers led Yarborough by 23,787 votes.

One of the bitterest political campaigns in the memory of veteran observers ended last night with the candidates, plugging where the votes were heaviest. Each predicted victory.

Yarborough was in Dallas, reputed Shivers' stronghold. Shivers was in Houston, where Yarborough expected a huge union vote.

Party loyalty was a major issue in the campaign which grew hotter with the injection of such issues as racial segregation in public schools, support of the CIO Political Action Committee, support of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, and a land deal in which Shivers made a profit of $425,000.

Shivers campaigned for Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952, taking the state party organization with him, and carrying Texas for the GOP for the second time since reconstruction days following the Civil War.

are small to encourage production and down in times of surpluses to discourage production.

Democratic critics contend the GOP program would bring about lower farm prices and income and possibly a depression. The administration argues, on the other hand, that high supports cause over-production, destroy markets and bring on controls.

Stevenson never has flatly committed himself on the issue of high vs. flexible supports. Hence there is uncertainty as to what he might say in his talk.

Democrats in Congress are themselves divided on the price support issue, although a majority voted against the flexible floors when the question came up recently, and fought unsuccessfully for retention of high floors set under the Roosevelt regime.

801 Cats but Only One Will Ever Make Noises

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—Timmie, the 12-year-old pet feline of Mrs. Arthur C. Trautwein, has 800 cats for company in his mistress' home.

But Timmie will never hear a friendly "meow" out of a single one of them. They're made out of everything from china and glass to wood, rubber and even pine cones.

Mrs. Trautwein's love for cats started her 13 years ago on her collection — which includes two highly-prized pieces a century old. One is a candle holder, on which a cat is perched. The other is a feline figure that holds a brandy glass.

Many pieces in the collection were imported.

Yankees Gain as Senators Edge Indians 3-2 in Tenth

Two Unearned Runs Bring Feller's Third Loss of Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 3-2 loss to Washington last night on a 10th inning error sent Cleveland into the third and deciding game against the Senators today with a 3½ game margin over the doggedly pursuing New York Yankees.

The loss was a tough one for Bob Feller, who gave up only eight hits, three of them bunts, to 11 yielded by Johnny Schmitz in his first victory over the Tribe in two seasons. Two of the runs off Feller were unearned, one because of Al Smith's second inning error.

The error that decided last night's game was rightfielder Dave Philley's bobble on a single Mickey Vernon swatted on a 3-2 pitch. While Philley tried to find a handle on the ball, Pete Runnels, who had singled to left with two out, went all the way home from first.

Washington's other two runs were tallied in the second on Roy Sievers' triple, a fly to short left that Smith dropped, and a hard grounder by Jerry Snyder that went off Al Rosen's glove for a double.

Both Indian runs came on three hits in the third—singles by Hal Naragon, Smith and Larry Doby, with a sacrifice by Feller after Naragon's base blow.

That the victory became Schmitz's eighth against seven losses instead of Feller's 12th against two defeats can be blamed partly on Rosen's current batting slump. Now 0-for-18, Al made the final out in five innings, leaving seven of the eight Cleveland runners who were stranded.

Mike Garcia, who hasn't won a game in 10 days and has been beaten twice in that time, tries for his 15th victory today against southpaw Chuck Stobbs, who has an 8-8 mark, including one victory and two losses against Cleveland

Triple Play Helps Reds End Losses

CINCINNATI (AP)- The Cincinnati Redlegs have finally snapped their four-game losing streak but it took a triple play and a ninth inning home run with the score tied to do it. And, as might be expected, Ted Kluszewski figured in both the big plays.

Kluszewski was the third man in the triple play and then broke up the game as the Redlegs defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-2, last night

The triple play, the first of the year in the National League, was a key factor in enabling the Reds to regain& fourth place. It came in the third inning.

Frank Thomas was struck by a ball pitched by Joe Nuxhall, and Sid Gordon beat out an infield single. Jack Shepard hit a hot grounder to third baseman Bobby Adams. Bobby grabbed the ball, stepped on third to force Thomas for the first out then whipped the ball to second where Johnny Temple forced Gordon for number two. Temple's relay to Kluszewski cut down Shepard by a full step.

Kluszewski got his 37th homer — and sixth off Pirate hurler Max Surkont — to break a 2-2 deadlock in the ninth inning.

Hayes Predicts Better Buckeye Football Team

By DAVE DILES

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Woody Hayes says this year's Ohio State football team will be the best since he took over as coach.

But almost in the same breath, the Buckeye mentor said every other team in the Big Ten will be improved, too.

Hayes' remarks came Friday night as Ohio State "kicked off" its 1954 season with the annual press-radio-TV gathering at the Scioto Country Club.

The Buck coach, speaking cautiously of Ohio's chances, promised the home-town fans they'd see better football But he wouldn't go out on a limb as to whether Ohio would better its 6-3 record of last year.

"We have better material and better depth at all positions," said Woody. "We've had more time to work on the substitution rule and we'll be better. But so will all the other teams."

Hayes singled out Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa as the top title contenders. And he agreed with most pre-season forecasts that generally placed the Buckeyes fifth in the Western Conference.

"It's a good feeling not be be rated at the top for a change," Hayes said. "It'll be a challenge for the boys."

Woody had a little to say about each of the Big Ten teams. A sampling of his comments:

Illinois - "More backfield potential than I've ever seen."

Iowa - "A much improved team over the one that allowed Notre Dame a tie last season"

Wisconsin - "One of Ivy Williamson's strongest teams — with the best fullback in the country in Alan (The Horse) Ameche. That guy has a good day every Saturday. I've never heard of him having an off day."

Northwestern - "A good offensive club."

Purdue - "Stu Holcomb has some veterans and they'll be a lot better than last year's team — which, incidentally wasn't as bad as it looked sometimes"

Michigan - "Better at every position, despite losing 8 of their first 11 men."

As for his fourth season at Ohio State, Hayes emphasized the element of competition would play an important part in selecting his starters.

Hayes said the annual spring drills proved there would be stiff battles for nearly every position

"This competition has improved every player," Hayes said. "All the boys are eager and they know every job is wide open"

Hayes figures sophomore Jim Roseboro, Ashland will give veteran Bob Watkins a stern test for the right halfback job. Roseboro is better defensively and could easily win the post, says Hayes.

Cancer of the liver is most common in the tropics.

HARRY ALEXANDER, New Bloomington basketball and baseball coach, is shown aboard the Greek liner T.S.S Nea Hellas in New York harbor just before sailing for Europe. Alexander will teach English for one year in Patras, Greece, on a Fulbright scholarship. On leave of absence, Alexander will return to New Bloomington next year.

Youngsters Win Honors At Vandalia

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—The 55th Grand American Trapshoot—biggest of them all—winds up today, but anything that happens will be anticlimatic to the finish of yesterday's famed handicap

The scattergun marksmen will decide the doubles, Vandalia Handicap, high overall and the all-round championships today, but these events fade in importance before yesterday's developments.

Three 14-year-old kids, shooting against the greatest array of trapshooters ever gathered on the half-mile firing line here, made a clean sweep of the honors in the clay target sport's No 1 event, the Grand American Handicap.

Nick Egan 14, of Flushing, New York, won the amateur championship from a field of 2,000—60 above the record set a year ago—by breaking 99 from 19 yards then defeating a pair of more experienced opponents in a 50-target shootoff. Egan is the second youngest ever to take the big title worth around $6,000

Brooklyn Begins To Show Last Year's Pennant Form

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's been a long time coming but the Brooklyn Dodgers finally are showing flashes of the brilliant form that made last year's pennant race a breeze

With three good games under belts the Dodgers are set for a triumphant tour through the West and the return home when they run head-on into the New York Giants in a three-game series next weekend.

Going into today's games they trailed the Giants by 3½ lengths and Manager Walt Alston said he had hopes of cutting the defiect to 2 or 2½ before the New York series

"I just hope we can stick on their tail and then get a hot streak in the last week of the season"

That last week the Dodgers have six games—three with Pittsburgh and three with New York.

The Dodgers showed their mighty power in swamping Cincinnati twice and last night they displayed the vital ability to fight back under pressure when they licked the St. Louis Cardinals 8-4

Brooklyn went into the ninth inning trailing 4-2. A two-run pinch-homer by rookie Walt Moryn tied the score and the Dodgers piled on four runs in the 10th to win going away

Only the starting pitching has been spotty in their recent outings. Carl Erskine was belted for four runs in four innings last night. Fine relief work by Pete Wojey, Clem Labine and Jim Hughes saved the game.

The Giants put a temporary halt to Milwaukee's pennant aspirations with a 3-1 triumph before a Milwaukee record crowd of 46,944. The Braves got to Sal Maglie for a run in the first inning but the veteran righthander settled down and held them helpless the rest of the way.

Cleveland's American League lead over New York was trimmed to 3½ games when the Indians were beaten by Washington, 3-2 in 10 innings, and the Yankees defeated Detroit 4-0 The Chicago White Sox trounced Philadelphia 11-0. Boston shaded Baltimore 3-2 and took over fourth place from Detroit.

The Chicago Cubs defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 4-3 in 12 innings and Cincinnati edged Pittsburgh 3-2 on Ted Kluszewski's 37th homer in the last of the ninth.

Bobby Feller lost a heartbreaker to Johnny Schmitz in the Washington-Cleveland battle. The winning run scored when outfielder Dave Philley booted Mickey Vernon's single long enough to allow Pete Runnels to score from first base in the 10th. Feller gave up only three hits, all bunts, between the second and the 10th

Tom Morgan of the Yankees held the Tigers at bay with six hits, never more than one to an inning The shutout was the 16th suffered by the Tigers, tops in the league this season Irv Noren hit his 11th home run.

Triples by Jim Rivera and Minnie Minoso and a home run by Johnny Groth led to eight runs for Chicago in the third inning at Philadelphia Harry Dorish, normally reserved for relief duty, pitched the shutout.

Boston's winning run against Baltimore came in the sixth with Harry Aggams, who had singled and moved around on an error, scoring after Ted Lepcio's long fly.

The Cubs tied the Phillies in the ninth on a home run by Ernie Banks, then won in the 12th when Hal Jeffcoat singled, scampered to third on an error and scored on a beautiful squeeze bunt by Gene Baker.

The Redlegs completed the first triple play in the National League this season. With Frank Thomas on second and Sid Gordon on first Jack Shepard bounced to third baseman Bobby Adams who stepped on the bag, threw to Johnny Temple at second and Temple's relay to first baseman Kluszewski beat Shepard.

Kansas City Cuts Indianapolis' Lead

By The Associated Press

The Louisville Colonels continued their attempt to make the American Association pennant race look less like a breeze for Indianapolis last night, beating Toledo, 3-2.

Meantime, Indianapolis was losing 9-3 to the Kansas City Blues. The Indians, in control of the race since the start of the season, now are 11½ games ahead of second-place Louisville.

In other Association games:

Lefthander Bill Henry scattered four hits and walked only one man as Charleston beat Columbus, 1-0. The loser Herb Moford, yielded only five safeties The run scored against him, in the second inning, was unearned.

St. Paul beat Minneapolis, 7-4, in a game featured by Bud Hutson's three-run homer for the Saints.

Palmer, Sweeny Collide For Amateur Golf Title

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

DETROIT (AP)—The final round of the National Amateur golf championship—a tournament noted for its contrasts—today matched a pair of golfers of sharply contrasting age, appearance and backgrounds.

But Bob Sweeny of Long Island, Palm Beach, London, and The Riviera, and Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., Wake Forest, N. C., and Cleveland had one thing in common—they're darn good golfers when the strokes really count

The last two favorites, who assumed those roles only when the early choices failed, Sweeny and Palmer clashed today in a 36-hole final starting at 9:30 a.m. (EST).

Sweeny is 43, tall and almost cadaverously thin, with an Oxford accent and an impeccable social background. And he's a golfer who sometimes plays Ben Hogan "level" at the plush Seminole Club in Palm Beach and even gave Ben a handicap once.

Palmer, 24, son of a Latrobe, Pa. professional, Milford (Deacon) Palmer, is a medium-sized, muscular looking fellow with high cheek bones and a face that seldom breaks into a smile. He was virtually brought up on a golf course and hardly took time out to attend Wake Forest College—where he won the first Atlantic Coast Conference title last spring—and to serve in the Coast Guard—where he also played golf.

They never had played each other before today and hardly knew each other except to exchange an occasional nod around a golf course.

Palmer, drawn in the toughest quarter of the draw, had to dispose of internationalists Stranahan and Don Cherry and then went 39 holes—matching the record length for amateur championship matches, to turn back his 37-year-old townsman, Ed Meister, in yesterday's semifinal.

Sweeny, last man off the tee every day, didn't meet a prominent player on his way to the last round. His semifinal opponent, Dr Ted Lenczyk, never before had qualified for the national and always had played in the shadow of his sister, Grace. Sweeny, winner of the British Amateur 17 years ago, simply crushed him by a 5 and 4 margin.

The Handley-Brown
GAS FUEL DOOR BURNER

The Fuel Door gas conversion burner is directly installed over stoker, oil burner or grates—without changing or rebuilding the furnace. This means low-cost installation; you get more burner for your money. And if you're renting, you can take this burner with you when you move.

This burner is high off the floor — safe for children, and safe against water damage. Even with water in the basement, the Fuel Door burner keeps your home warm and cozy — long after ashpit heating units are drowned out.

Improvements Around Homes Needed in Fall

Construction Bureau Reports Listing House Changes Is First Step

Now is the time to prepare for fall. This month wise home owners everywhere will begin to diagnose their home surroundings with relation to daily family living. They should start to organize their individual programs of fall improvements, particularly the do-it-yourself activities they plan to do.

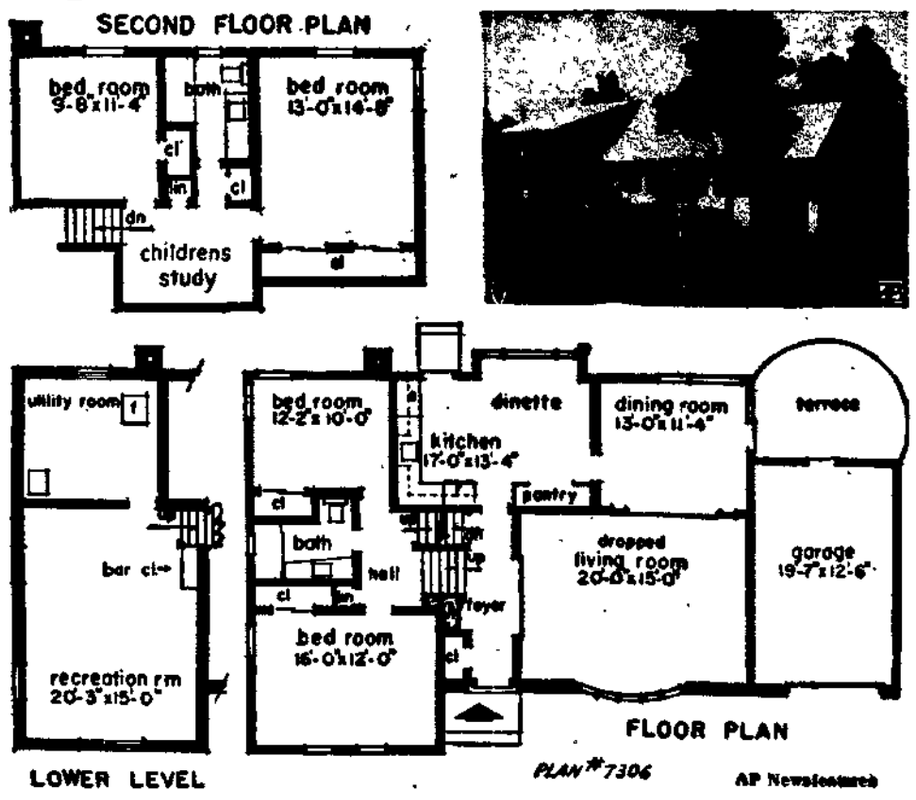
The first step in approaching home changes and refurnishing is to list all defects and inconveniences within the house, says the Construction Research Bureau. Through leisure-time work can be done to make one's home more comfortable, more healthful and more enjoyable for every member of the family.

Adequate space in which each member can carry out individual activities doubtless is the most important requirement for today's homes. The home belongs to both parents and children and both age groups should be able to enjoy each other, yet able to respect each other's privacy.

Plenty of storage room which will make family possessions readily accessible, an efficient kitchen, an up-to-date bathroom and easy-to-clean and maintain furnishings and equipment are needed. These enable the homemaker and mother to do her work with minimum effort and still have time and energy for her children, her husband and her personal interests.

Cluttered rooms can be reorganized, storage closets and bins enlarged or added, drab walls given new beauty by paint, paper or wood paneling, and unattractive floors made into a family's pride and joy through the spare - time work of family members.

'Step Down' Seen in Multi-Level Home



A MULTI-LEVEL house, with recreation and utility rooms half-a-flight down from main living room floor, two bedrooms and bath a half-flight up and two more bedrooms and bath another half-flight up. In addition, the living room is dropped one step below entrance foyer and dining room, providing extra ceiling height. This is plan 7306 by Herman York, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica 2, N.Y. The house as pictured was built and sold for less than $23,000 on a plot 80 by 100 at Bar Harbor, Massapequa, N.Y.

First Aid for the Ailing House

By ROGER WHITMAN

Q: — We are planning to build some bedrooms onto our present home, but the addition will not have a basement. Would it be advisable to construct the floor with concrete and then put down wood or just concrete and a composition tile on top? Wouldn't concrete and composition tile be cold in winter?

A: To guard against dampness and cold floors it would be best to put down a concrete slab in two layers. The first or base course could be mixed with a vermiculite (expanded mica) insulation. The surface of the layer is then dampproofed by coating it with liquid asphalt dampproofing and a layer of saturated felt. The top layer of concrete is of the usual mixture. If the base course of concrete was not mixed with vermiculite it will be necessary to insulate the perimeter of the slab. With either type of concrete floor you can use both a wood floor or composition tile, but don't overlook the dampproofing.

Q: The brass on my old hanging lamp turns dark and green in spots a couple of days after I polish it. Is there anything I can use to keep it bright?

A: After polishing the metal, wash off all traces of the cleaner by wiping with benzine, then apply a coat of clear lacquer. To avoid the appearance of fingerprints under the lacquer, handle the metal with cloth gloves.

Q: Four years ago I converted my attic into a small apartment and installed a shower bath separate from the tub, the floor being of tin. Now the tin bottom is showing big rust spots. Would asphalt tile be proper to cover this tin floor, but if not, just what can I do to prevent the floor from rusting?

A: I do not advise the use of asphalt tile in a shower, because of the presence of hot water and the possibility of water finding its way under the tiles. You will be able to obtain better results by cleaning the metal and applying a rust inhibitive paint. When this is thoroughly dry, finish with two or three coats of a rubber base paint. This type of paint will not be affected by alkalis and soaps or water.

Q: Please tell me how to stiffen the back of carpeting and rugs.

A: To resize a rug, stretch it upside down on a floor where it can remain for 24 hours. Tack it lightly into place. Spray the back with a solution of one half pound of chip glue into two quarts of water and allow to remain until thoroughly dry. Another procedure is to brush on a thin coat of white shellac.

Planning Essential Before Purchasing Paintless Furniture

Decide how you are going to live before you purchase unpainted furniture, advises Gordon Obrig, industrial designer. Measure the space for your dresser or chair in cubic feet, then go out and buy the piece that fits your needs.

If it physically suits your purpose, you can do anything you want with it to make it fit decoratively, he says. You can have it finished natural, bleached, pickled, stained or waxed.

When buying unpainted furniture make sure the bottoms of the drawers are secure and not too thin. Check also to see if the back of the case is screwed on well.

Before painting, says Obrig, sand the wood as smooth as possible to avoid tell-tale grooves and holes. This saves 25 per cent of the labor in finishing the furniture.

If the furniture is made of wood with an open grain he suggests it be painted or enameled. In straight grained woods, practically anything can be done with it.

To finish furniture with shellac, you will need, one or two empty wide-mouth jars; clean rags; fresh shellac, 4 lb. cut; denatured alcohol; water stain or zinc white according to finish desired; sandpaper or steel wool; shellac brush; and paste wax.

After you sand the surface take white or black shellac enamel and brush it on. Then dip a rag in alcohol, wipe the surface and let it dry for two hours. Sand it lightly, dust, take fresh white shellac (one part shellac to three parts denatured alcohol; and brush freely on wood grain and let it dry for at least one hour.

Give it a second coat after you sand lightly and dust with a dry brush. Let it dry overnight. Sand and dust again. For good results use a good paste wax and buff.

Paste wax should be applied as thin as possible. Let it dry one hour before buffing.

Shellac applied this way gives a satiny finish. But if you want it flat, rub the surface after the third coat with a fine pumice and rubbing oil.

NO REVERSALS

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — (UP) — There was no doubt about a decision of the umpire, Jimmy Webb, being upheld in the Hermando DeSoto old-timer's baseball league here. Webb also is president of the league.

Varied Materials Becoming Popular In Home Exteriors

For the exteriors of modern homes, many deft combinations of different materials are now in vogue.

According to the new edition of "Small Homes Guide," you see "exciting blends of red brick and white clapboard siding, painted brick and weathered cedar stakes, wood siding and plywood panel siding with metal windows. Colors are used boldly and with highly effective results . . . attractive yellow siding, olive-drab plywood with glistening white trim, cool blue board-and-batten siding, accented by a natural finish door.

"Everywhere," the guide continues, "you see more and more the effects of the urge to retain the warmth and charm of natural wood. Manufacturers have contributed to this trend by making better transparent finishes available — finishes that protect the wood from weather damage for years without coloring it or hiding its beauty."

Old Roses Descended From European Type

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (UP)— Ask any average gardener from what flower the rose was developed and he probably won't be able to give an answer.

The rose is one of the most popular of American flowers, but its history is somewhat hazy. It has been crossed and re-crossed a great many times in past centuries And there are more than 250 different species of the true rose and many hundreds of varieties.

However, the experts believe that many of the older types descended from the Provence Rose (Rosa Gallica) which is a native to southern and central Europe.

Postal Pilfering

SALT LAKE CITY — (UP) — Injury was added to insult here recently when postal officials reported the theft of two registered letters from the contract post office at the Utah capitol building.

The Salt Lake postmaster revealed that one letter contained reports on the day's business at the postoffice and the other contained $112 in cash, the day's receipts at the contract station.

Milk Men Embarrassed

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — (UP) — Milk is abundant in this state, but you couldn't have proved it by the recent meeting here of the Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative Association.

Proclaiming loudly and fervently the necessity for increased milk consumption by the public, the association found itself "all out" of its product at its luncheon meeting and again during the evening banquet.

Increasing the discomfort of the dairymen was the fact that the cheese, present in abundance, was imported from Wisconsin!

Games in Tile Flooring Make Versatile Room

Checkerboard, Other Patterns Seen Adding To Fun of Youngsters

By clever planning and originality of design, the children's room can be made to serve a dual purpose in the home, becoming a playroom as well as the youngsters' bedroom. Inset several ready-to-play games in the tile flooring as it is installed in their room, and you will provide a source of fun and acitivity that will happily occupy the juniors of the family both in rainy weather and on sunny days.

Design a checkerboard for youthful tournaments now, and later it will serve as a chess board.

Install a shuffleboard insert, ready-made for amusing games. Ready to set into your floor, it measures 43 inches x 54 inches, and you can choose either white feature strips and 6-inch white numberals on rich dark green tile or white on glowing red tiles. This extra decorative-game touch is inexpensive because it involves no extra installation labor.

You can easily work out a big tick-tack-toe game pattern in yellow feature strips inset in a sturdy floor. Crosses and circles for this game can be cut from foam rubber for easy use by small children.

A ready-made hopscotch pattern is another good game idea. Use the regular 1-inch feature strip in red, white, yellow or green, to mark the outlines of the rectangle and its squares which you number with themetile numerals. These themetiles are factory-made precision die-cut designs in regular 9-inch x 9-inch tile which can be installed easily as a permanent part of the flooring.

The tiles have a bright, gay appearance, which is permanent and scuff-resistant. They are so easily cleaned that boys and girls readily can be encouraged to take pride in their rooms and taught to keep them neat and clean.

If you are planning a room for a pre-kindergarten child, an alphabet border of gay colored themetiles and simple words will be educational as well as decorative. And there is a wide range of floral and animal themetiles which can be used to make the floor cheerful and interesting now and later will be a fitting and durable background for their hobbies

SWEEPING ROOF LINES, combining a gabled roof with a shed roof, distinguish this design for a modern home without a basement. A large utility room adjoins the kitchen. A family room provides for a ground floor recreation space. This is plan AB-189N by John R. Worthman, architect of Ft. Wayne, Ind., for the American Builder Home Plan Service, 79 W. Monroe St., Chicago 3, Ill. The house covers 1,810 square feet; garage 550 square feet.

Restful Colors Put On Furniture for Rooms in Hospitals

Colorful furniture and interior designs have found their way from the home into the hospital, with pastel-shaded steel furniture being used increasingly in patients' rooms and wards, architects and designers report.

One of the largest producers of modern metal hospital furniture is finishing its furniture in soft, restful, therapeutic colors designed to give the patient a cheerful atmosphere in which to convalesce.

The furniture features such shades as soft rose, seafoam green, cool &rey, sand beige, sandalwood, and delta green, with hospital walls and ceiling being finished in pale aqua, soft yellow, white, and light hues of green to complete the attractive setting.

YOUR HOME . . . Today and Tomorrow

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

No one has ever disputed the beauty and decorative properties of wrought iron as seen in old New Orleans balconies and patios. As a matter of fact, wrought iron has again become popular and we see it almost everywhere today in connection with the most attractive houses. As a result of this present trend many iron shops and Smithys are making a specialty of ironwork and you can buy trellises, corner pieces and panels, all ready to use in appropriate places around your home.

The illustrations above show how a wrought iron trellis can be set in porch corners in place of the wood or brick columns. The difference is quite amazing and there is hardly a porch or patio that would not be improved by the substitution. The smaller of the drawings show a typical corner piece or bracket which may be used to increase the decorative effect in the same kind of change. In all cases the ironwork should be painted to match the color of the house around it. This prevents too great a contrast and adds an airy and pleasantly light effect to the area being treated.

The ironwork shown here is a leaf pattern, and there are many such available; some with large leaves and others with grapes and smaller leaf clusters. There are also available trellises in scrolls of flat iron of various widths and thicknesses, and many of the iron shops have a long list of available shapes and designs.

One of the best things about the use of these items is the fact that they can be drilled so that they can be securely screwed in place and have actual structural strength and value. A corner trellis, properly installed, can have the same strength as a wood column or post, and there is no comparison between the two as far as beauty goes.

Irish Tulips Liked

DUBLIN (UP) — Irish tulips ave made their mark in America. In less than three years, Ireland has built up a huge import market of tulip bulbs to the United States, and orders continue to pour in.

The Irish tulip industry is concentrated mainly on a 400-acre farm at Finglas, near Dublin airport, on a sunswept ledge of limestone land. It is run with the efficiency of a model-style factory. Head of the industry is Edward Browett, a Dubliner campaigning to have Ireland replace Holland as the leading power in the world of flowers.

The United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization is studying preparations from soybeans, peanuts and fish as substitutes for milk in the feeding of children.

Battle Sites Homes For Many in U.S.

WASHINGTON (UP) — Quite by chance, many Americans live where some of the country's hardest battles were fought.

Boston New York, and Philadelphia sites associated with the Revolution, and French and Indian War battlefields along the Monongahela River outside Pittsburgh are among those involved.

Some Americans with a bent for historic lore settle by design near historic sites. For example, President and Mrs. Eisenhower bought a farm near Gettysburg, Pa., where the chief executive likes to recount the fierce struggle there of the Union and Confederate armies during the Civil War.

New apartment buildings now stand on a Civil War battlefield near Fredericksburg, Va., and the battlefield at Winchester, Va., is now peaceful apple-growing country.

But at the time of the Civil War, Wilmer McLean, of Manassas, Va., tried to get away from a battlefield. It was his farm that was the scene of the first and second battles of Bull Run. He moved deep into Virginia to get away from the fighting. He settled at Appomattox Court House, and once more the Union and Confederate armies followed him, this time for the surrender of Lee to Grant.

Have Plastic Pipes

Golf Course Sprinklers Now Possible in Yards

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

Ever get tired of sprinkling your lawn and wish you had one of those golf course sprinkler systems fed from underground pipes? Well, it's simpler and cheaper to install a yard full of such fountains than we ever imagined. You can do it with flexible plastic pipes laid just under the sod and even in northern climates you have no worry about freezing.

Hardware stores and garden supply houses are beginning to display kits of plastic piping 63 feet long with six sprinkler heads and all needed couplings and stainless steel clamps for connections. The setup is supposed to be adequate for an area of 1,000 to 1,750 square feet, depending on local pressure, and the complete price is just under $60.

Dig up your sod about four inches deep, lay the sprinkler system and put the sod down again. That's about all there is to it.

THE REASON you don't have to worry about freezing is that plastic pipe has a greater expansion than ice. Of course, the sprinkler heads are metal and could burst if frozen. So there's a drain unit in the kit. But complete drainage is not so important as it would be with metal piping.

Four inches is enough for depth, since this leaves the sprinkler heads at ground level where they will not interfere with lawn mowing. A screw driver and a spade are all you need to work with.

The plastic pipe, developed by the Republic Steel Corp., is used by various manufacturers for lawn sprinkling systems as well as othlight that a man can easily carry ligh tthat a man can easily carry 400 feet of the stuff.

SO MANY PEOPLE, other than movie stars, are interested in backyard swimming pools that our mail has been heavy since we mentioned this subject. One letter you'll want to read over our shoulder is from Harrison Todd, the veteran waterproofer of Sacramento, Calif. He says the 20 by 40-foot pool we described would hold 154 tons of water.

"If the structure is not strong enough," says Mr. Todd, "there will be breaks and leaks that cannot be waterproofed. When I am called to waterproof a swimming pool, I run.

"I have found that the expansion joints mentioned by the Portland Cement Assn., are not necessary. In winter there is little expansion and when the pool is full of water there is practically no expansion or contraction.

"A new method of building pools does away with the use of forms and form lumber. The walls and floor are smoothly dug. The steel reinforcement is placed and then a gunite process is used, spraying the concrete in place. Only sand and water are used in the mix, but the gunite process puts it in place with such pressure that the concrete is of equal or greater strength than if rock is added as an aggregate."

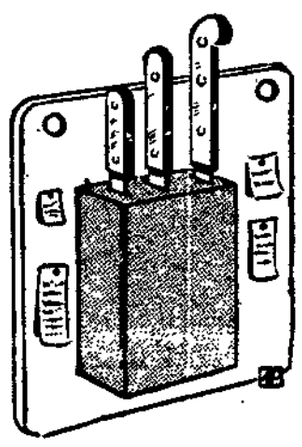
A NEW PRODUCT that came to our attention this week is a self-adhering rubber tile, which needs no messy adhesive. It works like an emergency bandage. You peel off a protective under covering, put the tile in place over practically any type of subfloor (the smoother the better for long wear) and there is sticks. The only preparation called for is to swab the floor with a solvent, such as mineral spirits or carbon tetrachloride, which reactivates the adhesive gum on the back of the tile.

Knife Box



A COMBINATION knife box and bulletin board is easy to make by screwing or nailing a cigar box to a piece of plywood for hanging. Cut slits in the cigar box to hold the knives. Finish with two coats of white shellac enamel, allowing one hour between coats. Sand lightly, dust and coat with a good paste wax.

Fads in Home Furnishing Hit By Decorators

NEW YORK — (UP) — Let fashion have its Christian Diors and the other designers who constantly must create something new. There is no room for fads in home furnishings.

So says Melanie Kahane, a young and pretty New York decorator, who decries the way "fadism" is foisted on the housewife.

"Such fads," she said, "as black wrought iron all over the place, venetian blinds, glass brick, mobiles.

"Leave the vogue-isms to fashion. They're too expensive for furniture."

Not that home decorating should get in a rut.

But the changes, Miss Kahane said, should come about logically, as industry makes technological advances, as our economy changes, as our way of living alters.

"Such changes are healthy," she said, in an interview. "They are not whimsical as fashion can be."

The designer, a vice president of the American Institute of Decorators, applauded such trends as those which have done away with the front parlor for show and have made every room in the house on for living; the elimination of the dining room, which she said cost too much to furnish for what use the family made of it; and the elimination of inside barriers.

"I don't mean lack of walls," she said. "I refer to the openness and airiness of today's homes. People have re-discovered bare floors and big windows."

Miss Kahane, who once used gray flannel for the wall-covering of a man's study, said today's housewife has greater change for individuality in the home than ever before.

"First off," she said, "her taste is better than ever. And there are so many new materials to work with—the plastics, new wood finishes and metals, the washability and serviceability of fabrics and paints.

"And above all, there's color—colors to work with as never before. Use of color is the cheapest way to redecorate."

Miss Kahane has started some unusual color trends. She has combined pink and orange for pleasing and dramatic results, and set a bunch of women to copying when she came out with a black, white and orange color scheme for a living room.

Steel Cabinets Seen as Aid to Space Problem

Finding space to store things is a universal problem in the home and business office alike. For locating storage space often isn't enough. The area frequently must be adapted to storage of particular items.

In the home, for instance, it sometimes is hard to find a suitable place to keep the vacuum, dust mop, broom, and cleaning supplies. Or on occasion the children's closet isn't large enough and added space is needed to hang up the youngsters' dresses and coats or to store their shoes and boots. Specially-adapted cabinets and wardrobes can help solve such problems.

And in the business office, too, steel cabinets must be adaptable to a variety of storage needs. For not only is a place needed to hang employees' hats and coats, but records, business machines, office forms, and supplies also must be stored.

Recognizing that versatile storage facilities are important, one firm has introduced a variety of 10 new steel office cabinets—storage, wardrobe, and counter styles—with shelves that can be easily adjusted at two-inch intervals. No tools are needed to make the shelf alterations because of patented, specially-designed brackets which hold the shelves in place.

Growing Pains

Preparation for Setting Out Roses Is Needed Soon

By ALBERT S. FULLING
Associated Press Writer

The rose is known as the queen of flowers. You can have royalty in your garden without too much expense and, thanks to modern growing methods, with little effort.

Commercial growers, agricultural colleges and their research groups have devoted time and skill to making rose growing easy for the home gardner.

With just a resonable amount of care, modern roses, unlike many of their ancestors, do very well under what once were called unfavorable conditions.

Mid summer, of course, is no time to plant roses. It is, however, the best time to plan and make ready for fall planting, when the roses get the best possible start. They'll be ready for colorful bloom come the first robin's chirp in the spring.

THE ROSE CATALOGUES have been mailed. If you haven't got one, send for it. The home gardeners are studying the new offerings as well as the old standbys, and studying their gardens to see where the particular type rose best would be placed.

The home gardener primarily is concerned with three major and most popular classes of roses: hybrid teas, floribundas and climbers.

Hybrid teas are beautifully formed flowers with long, sturdy stems and are most effectively displayed in the garden in a bed of their own.

The floribundas, which bloom prolifically, are striking in color massing, where long distance effect is dramatic. The close up view is equally exciting. The popular floribunda produces individual roses of exquisite form, whether in bud, half, or full flower.

They arrange beautifully for eye-filling and thrilling effect in the home.

AS FOR CLIMBERS when a woman thinks of a rose, she thinks of a hybrid tea most of the time. When a man says rose, he's thinking of the climber, trained to a trellis arbor, or festooning a fence or post.

All American Rose Selections says a poll conducted for it three years ago showed that Americans favor the rose over all other flowers by a 19 to 1 margin.

And most Americans prefer red—when it comes to roses.

While you're planning and selecting your rose sites, bear these few things in mind

—:—

THE PLANTING SPOT should get at least from 4 to 6 hours of sunlight. It should be a place that drains well. Don't plant too close to trees or shurbs, for they'll vie with your roses for nutrition from the soil. Roses are great feeders.

You can adjust poor drainage factors by digging to a depth of about 18 inches, mixing about 25 per cent peat moss and 10 per cent compost or rotted manure with the soil.

And if the drainage situation is real bad, put in a six-inch layer of cinders or gravel at the bottom of the hole or rose bed.

The beginning is in the planning and selection — the planting is in the fall.

More about planting later—

Garden royalty is as close to you as the nearest catalogue and your garden.

TAKE PRECAUTIONS

Before repainting the exterior of your house, make sure that every precaution is taken to prevent any future invasion of destructive moisture that might cause the paint to blister. Roof leaks, clogged gutters and rainspouts, defective flashings siding that's too near the ground, uncovered earth under the house, foundations that are not water-resistant, poorly joined lumber and similar conditions can permit a lot of destructive moisture to enter the house and cause expensive damage.

Building Permits

Eight building permits with a total valuation of $18,500 were issued at the Marion City Clerk's office in the week from Aug. 20-26.

This was a decline from the previous week when 15 permits with valuation of $37,610 were issued. The permits last week were:

Bucyrus Ranch Has 250 Chinchillas

Railroader, Wife Began With Pair of Animals Some 16 Years Ago

BUCYRUS — Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. L. Wurtemberger and two chinchillas started a ranch near Bucyrus in 1938. Today at the Wurtemberger farm there are 250 chinchillas.

Wurtemberger is president of the Ohio branch of the National Chinchilla Breeders Association, the largest such organization in the world. In addition to the 235 chinchilla ranches which are listed in the Ohio organization's membership, there are other farms in the state. When the chinchilla breeders organized a branch of the national group a couple of years ago, there were only 35 members.

There are about one million chinchillas in the United States and Canada, but the animals are described as being "very scarce." Despite the seemingly large number of chinchilla ranches, even in Ohio alone, there is a demand which far exceeds supply as far as the furriers are concerned. To fashion a full length chinchilla coat, it takes 100 pelts and to get 100 perfectly matched chinchilla pelts, it takes approximately 2,000 skins.

The pelts are matched according to color shade, pattern and density of fur. Chinchilla fur is basically the same color, pearl gray or blue with a stripe of lighter gray or white and black tip.

"CHINCHILLA RAISING is no more difficult than livestock raising," contends Wurtemberger, who should know.

The Wurtemberger chinchillas are housed in wire pens, apartment building fashion, row after row and level after level. All the 250 animals are kept in two buildings, a floor space of about 1,500 square feet, located on a seven acre plot near Bucyrus.

The little animals have many pleasing characteristics, among them cleanliness. A chinchilla that doesn't take a dust bath once a day is an outcast. Most of them love the daily routine.

They're also very much family-minded. They are paired off in the pens, male and female, and eventually the offspring join them. Papa chinchilla remains in the pen with mama while she is expecting her young and even after they arrive, which is one trait possessed by few animals. If Mama chinchilla wants to temporarily leave the nest box, which is provided especially for chinchilla families, Papa chinchilla will take over baby sitting duties in the box until she returns.

JUST RENEWING AN OLD FRIENDSHIP are Harold Wurtemberger and one of his chinchillas. Camera-shy Mr. Chinchilla agreed to pose only after he was bribed with a raisin.

The chinchilla families are not large, however. They usually produce two litters per year with anywhere from one to four babies per litter.

—:—

THE NEST BOXES are housed for the new additions while they are very young. When they're older, they stand changes in temperature very well, the cooler the better. When the mercury climbs up to 90 degrees, it becomes uncomfortable for the chinchillas. The Wurtembergers have well-insulated buildings for the animals and an attic fan to keep the temperature from climbing too far.

A strictly nocturnal animal, the chinchilla is also herbiferous. Sitting on his haunches like a squirrel, he will eat twice a day. His main diet consists of grain, Timothy hay or alfalfa, fortified with vitamins and minerals in the form of pellets. To add the perfect touch, he'll munch on a raisin for dessert.

A very sociable fellow, the chinchilla is curious and alert at the sight or sound of a new presence. He usually won't stand still long enough to permit an inexperienced hand to catch him and he moves much faster than a rabbit. To those who know him, he is sociable and gentle and it's a rare case where man will be bitten by chinchilla, unless man asked for it, confided Mr. Wurtemberger.

Anyone can buy a pair of chinchillas for breeding if they have about $1,000 to $1,200 . . . and if they can meet the high standards. The business of buying a pair of chinchillas is similar to an adoption. Chinchilla raisers such as the Wurtembergers must check into the prospective buyer's qualifications and then make sure he will know how to care for the animals.

"IT IS THE BREEDERS' obligation to see that the customer gets off to the right start," Wurtemberger pointed out.

An inexperienced thinchilla buyer goes through a training period, where he visits the chinchilla ranch, listens to directions and then puts them into practice in caring for his pair of chinchillas. After he is "graduated," he takes the chinchillas home.

It is the constant aim of every chinchilla breeder to produce pelts with an improved over-all color and to raise larger animals.

In addition to the time he spends caring for his chinchillas, Wurtemberger is yardmaster for the New York Central Railroad in Bucyrus. He's been employed by the railway for more than 40 years and has always been stationed in Bucyrus. He went to work for the NYC shortly after his graduation from high school. It was several years later that he became interested in chinchilla raising through a magazine article.

New Tool for Farm Aids In Battle Against Flies

MADISON, Wis. (UP) — The farmer's lot is improving daily.

First, a man named McCormick made a reaper. Then came such things as the tractor and corn picker. Now ranking in convenience with the milking machine and the push-button barn cleaner, we have the "barn-fogger."

The University of Wisconsin has developed a sprayer-air-compressor-electric-motor rig for killing flies in a barn in three minutes. The fogger also sprays the cows with a coating of insecticide to protect them from flies and mosquitos when they return to pasture.

It is estimated the cost of spray for one season would be about $18.

USELESS GIFT

WORCESTER, Mass. — (UP)— This city's police department was given a present valued at $225 by the Worcester County Safety Council, but it is useless. Local law does not allow admission of chemical tests as court evidence, so the drunkometer gathers dust.

Consult Local Authorities

Turnpike Officials Take Care in Road Relocation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—What happens to a county or township road if a turnpike slices through it? Does it deadend against the toll road?

Chances are better than 15 to 1 that it won't, judging from how things are working out along the route of the 241-mile Northern Ohio Turnpike.

Ralph J. Lehman, assistant chief engineer for the Ohio Turnpike commission has the answers, which are of special interest to thousands of persons living along roads near the planned 410-mile Cincinati-Conneaut Turnpike.

After a "study route" of the north-south turnpike was disclosed recently, the state highway director, Samuel O. Linzell, gave general answers to what happens to county roads.

Lehman expands on the answers in the light of how things have worked out on the Northern Ohio Turnpike. That turnpike crosses more than 300 county and township roads and only about 20 won't cross over or under the turnpike.

Have Final Word

County commissioners have the final word on whether the turnpike shall block a county road and more often than not they decide it won't.

Before a road is blocked off, two main factors are considered—the number of vehicles it serves a day and how significant it is to the local network of roads.

Any county road that serves through traffic is retained. The 20 that deadend against the turnpike are strictly "land service" roads, which serve only a few people living nearby. Roads having school bus and mail routes are not disturbed.

"We never attempt to force a county to vacate a section of a road," Lehman says. "That's why we have had no court cases involving county roads.

"After the turnpike is finished practically all the county roads will be used the same as before. Some will be relocated, but we can't even do that until county commissioners approve the relocation."

In most cases county roads will run over the turnpike because it is cheaper to do this than run the road under the turnpike. Lehman says on the average it costs about $150,000 to run a two-lane pavement under or over the turnpike.

Pays Cost of Relocation

When roads are relocated, one is run into another so two county roads can cross the turnpike at the same place. The turnpike commission pays all costs of relocating the roads.

If a road is relocated, the turnpike commission designs the roadway wide enough so the pavement can be widened if traffic increases, and at the lowest possible cost to the county.

In the long run, Lehman says, this will save counties money when they get around to widening roads. The pavement provided by the commission is the same width of the original road, but the undercourse is wider to provide a good roadway for a wider pavement later on.

The commission's policy of not trying to force counties to give up roads has resulted in building of more passover structures than planned originally. At last Tuesday's commission meeting plans to relocate part of a road in Fulton County were approved.

Sales Tax Receipts Continue Fall Here

A smaller decline, in comparison with recent weeks, was noted for sales tax receipts in Marion County for the week ending Aug. 14, which amounted to $18,331, with $19,290 listed for the similar period last year.

Statewide, the decline was $178,981. Receipts in the state for this year's week ending Aug. 14 were $2,687,751, while last year they were $2,866,702.

Neighboring counties showing increases were Crawford, Delaware, and Wyandot. Showing decreases were Hardin, Morrow, and Union.

SOUND SLEEPER

EAST HARTFORD, Conn. — (UP) — A drowsy motorist pulled to the side of the road and slept soundly until aroused by a policeman who informed him he was resting against his horn button.

RAIN STARTS FIRE

MIDDLEBURY, Conn. — (UP) —A fire that ruined the interior of a clubhouse was blamed indirectly on rain. A storm drove five campers inside, and one of their lanterns, which they used instead of electric lights for atmosphere, tipped over, touching off the blaze.

Army-McCarthy Fuss, Housing Deals Top List of Probes by 83rd Congress

This is the fourth in a series of stories reviewing the session of Congress just ended.

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Blaring headlines on investigations directed by and at Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) chronicled a spectacular segment of the record of the 83rd Congress.

The big sensation was the stormy, 36-day feud between McCarthy and top Army officials. With the verdict still not in on that one, the Senate has some unfinished business left on another growing partly from it—an inquiry starting next Tuesday into charges behind demands that the Senate censure the Wisconsin senator's conduct.

Other inquiries plodded on in less showy fashion or blazed across the congressional horizon like momentary meteors.

Committees dug into housing scandals, racketeering, crime on the waterfronts. Three of them went unrelentingly after Communists in and out of government. The House Un-American Activities Committee tried to subpoena former President Truman and got a rap on the knuckles from President Eisenhower.

SCORES OF WITNESSES took cover behind the Fifth Amendment on questions about communism. Some were fired or suspended from jobs with the government, in defense plants or in schools and colleges. Some were cited for contempt of Congress, a step toward trials in court.

With so many witnesses ducking for cover under the constitutional guarantee that they need not testify against themselves, Congress passed a law to take away this immunity under some conditions. In its place, the witnesses would get immunity from prosecution in federal courts for any testimony they would be compelled to give.

There was hardly a day in the last 9 months when Conress wasn't investigating something. If it wasn't vermifuge pills for the Indochinese or ice box deaths it was the high price of coffee or alleged Army coddling of athletes.

At times the clanging of investigations almost drowned out the legislative theme song—to the extent that administration leaders from the President down worried about the progress of their program.

BEHIND THE INQUIRIES is a story of conflict and controversy, and of jockeying at times for political advantage in a congressional election year.

Yet the McCarthy-Army row was largely a family affair among the Republicans. And the upcoming investigation of McCarthy's conduct was sparked by a Republican, Sen. Flanders of Vermont.

Furthermore, Republicans as well as Democrats have produced one major offshoot of the investigations—demands that Congress police its committees in some way and set up a code of fair practices designed to meet criticisms that inquiries have spawned abuses and mistreatment of witnesses.

Eisenhower, too, has stressed time after time his desire for fair plan in investigations although he has said this is a matter for Congress itself to handle.

And time after time the President sidestepped head-on clashes with McCarthy only by refusing to indulge in personalities or name-calling. Even so, he shot some unmistakable shafts in the senator's direction.

SOME INVESTIGATING committees had internal troubles.

Democrats stomped out from McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee when the GOP majority voted the chairman exclusive rights to hire and fire staff members. It took months, and a change in that decision, to get them back.

Under pressure for a staff shake-up, McCarthy reluctantly accepted the resignation of Roy M. Cohn as chief counsel and transferred Donald A. Surine to his own office staff.

On a subcommittee which has hammered away at security risks, it developed that Surine and another staff aide, Thomas Lavenia, had been denied security clearance by the Pentagon. Lavenia was kept on the pay roll with an understanding he would have no access to secret information.

Staff troubles, the Army hearings and the censure move are just a fragment of the McCarthy saga in the 83rd Congress which has just wound up its second session. From time to time, the senator banged away at these targets:

BOOKS HE SAID were pro-Communist in U. S. libraries overseas, alleged espionage at the Army radar laboratory at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., Allied trade with Chinese Reds, the government's super-secret Central Intelligence Agency, State Department files and personnel, the Government Printing Office, the United Nations, the Mutual Security Administration, the handling of some tax cases, defense stockpiling, suspected Reds in defense plants, fraudulent Social Security claims, possible waste and corruption in Alaska.

Other Senate and House committees dug into such things as:

Alleged labor racketeering and misuse of union welfare funds, Soviet seizure and abuse of the Balkan states, travel and expense allowances of federal judges, the "Voice of America," a compound to soup up batteries, a reported shortage of ammunition for American forces in Korea, charges of election irregularities, the Social Security system, operations of the Justice Department, the Office of Alien Property, the synthetic rubber program, U. S. housing in Germany, Reds in defense plants, the plunge of a passenger train into Washington's union station, juvenile delinquency, tax exempt foundations.

And that isn't all.

TO THE ACCOMPLISHMENT of widespread protests from churchmen, the Un-American Activities Committee edged into the field of Communism in the clergy. One of its members, Rep. Jackson (R-Calif), told the house that Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam "served God on Sunday and the Communist front the rest of the week."

Oxnam demanded and got a hearing—10 hours on the witness stand in which he acknowledged he had belonged to some organizations later cited as subversive but branded much about him in the committee files as untrue. In the end the committee adopted a motion declaring it "has no record of any Communist Party membership or affiliation by Bishop Oxnam."

After backtracking down the trail of former government officials accused of having served Soviet spy rings, the Senate Internal Security subcommittee produced a report saying unexposed espionage networks still might be operating in the government.

ON THE BASIS of secret testimony, it said in another report that Communist conspirators were flooding the county with propaganda and had hidden printing equipment to carry on in event of war.

The subcommittee, under Chairman Jenner (R-Ind), and the Velde Committee both took up the search for Communists in schools and colleges—a search that brought a number of faculty firings and suspensions.

A senate subcommittee concluded "there was needless loss of American lives" because of ammunition shortages in Korea. It blamed policy makers of the Truman administration for miscalculating the "aggressive designs of International Communism."

A special House committee recommended that the free world make a concerted break in trade and diplomatic relations with Red governments.

A House subcommittee reported it had found "shocking inefficiency" in past administrations in the Justice Department and criticized handling of tax, liquor and anti-trust cases. A Democratic member said parts of the report were "false."

A SENATE COMMITTEE that investigated juvenile delinquency said it had learned of serious drug addiction among young people and that traffic in "insidious filth"—books, pictures, cartoons, recordings—had become big business netting perhaps a hundred to 300 million dollars a year.

A senate subcommittee reported that waterfronts on all coasts are "lawless frontiers," New York docks the "foulest" of all, with mobsters and racketeers entrenched there and Communists and fellow travelers making a "bid for power."

Jenner's subcommittee, in another report, said a Communist fifth column, including some Americans, was operating in the United Nations secretariat.

One of the most rough-and-tumble hearings of them all was the investigation into operations of tax exempt foundations by a special House committee. Members fought with witnesses and among themselves. Democrats walked angrily out at one point. Public hearings were called off after only one side was heard—the foundation critics.

A high spot:

Rep. Wayne L. Hays (D-Ohio) read some statements on labor policy which committee official Thomas M. McNiece said closely paralleled Communist literature and ideals. Then Hays sprung the trap. The statements, he announced, were by Popes Leo XIII and Pius XI.

Although a huge iron ore deposit was discovered on the Quebec-Labrador border in 1893, no determined effort was made to exploit it until the 1940s.

HOT BALL

GOAT ISLAND, R. I. — (UP)—A batter in a baseball game between sons of Navy personnel hit a long one that not only cleared the bases but also the field. The ball struck a fire box, sounding an alarm.

Democrats of 8th District Stage Campaign Kickoff

By DELORES BASINGER

Approximately 250 Democrats from the Eighth Congressional District attended the campaign kickoff dinner and rally at the Kenton Elks Club Friday night. Guest speaker was Representative Ed Edmondson of Oklahoma.

Guests at the speakers' table included: U. S. Senator Thomas A. Burke of Cleveland; George D. Nye, former lieutenant governor, who served as master of ceremonies; James Lauer of Prospect, Democratic state central committeeman; Judge Joseph D. Quatman of Lima, candidate for judge of the third district court of appeals; Judge James Bell of London, candidate for the Ohio Supreme Court; Judge John Lamneck, candidate for the Supreme Court; Joseph T. Ferguson, candidate for state treasurer; Robert W. Reider, candidate for secretary of state; Thomas Dowd of Kenton, candidate for Congress from the eighth district; and Harry Meredith of Lima. Nye was introduced by John Roof of Kenton, Hardin County Democratic chairman.

AN ESTIMATED 60 persons from Marion County made the trip to Kenton for the kickoff meeting. A district picnic is slated for Sept. 11 in Marion County at Hickory Grove Lake when state candidates for the November election will be present.

Brief remarks were given by each of the guests at the speakers' table and Dowd and Senator Burke gave brief talks preceding the address by Rep. Edmondson.

A veteran of World War II and a former FBI employe, the 35-year-old congressman was elected in 1952 for his first term. Her formerly was a district attorney. He centered his talk about promises which he said were made by the Republican party in 1952, but which have not been carried out. He referred to Senator Joseph McCarthy's remarks in Lincoln Day speeches which "labeled the Democratic party with betrayal and treason" as the "big smear." He told the Democratic audience that "Herbert Hoover created more Communists when he was in power than had been created in 20 years of Democratic power."

"WE ARE GOING to have to take the truth to the people," the Oklahoma Congressman told his listeners.

He commented that the Democratic goal may be explained best with the words of the Declaration of Independence. The young Congressman urged the Democrats that the "team with the greatest desire to win will win the election." However, he concluded, that something more important is at stake "than the welfare of a party or individual—the welfare of the country."

Arrangements for the dinner were handled by a committee which included Thomas Fetter and George Stafford of Marion.

Why Worry?

A Sermonette

By REV. M. E. HOLLENSEN
Emanuel Lutheran Church

"Take no thought for your life." Matt. 6:25

Worry is something that all of us have experienced, something that we do not like, and yet, something that so often we do so very little about. We remind ourselves that Jesus was never filled with worry or anxiety, that he was never filled with fear regarding the circumstances of his life. In fact we greatly admire this absence of worry in the life of our Savior. But then we think of ourselves and our worries, and we proceed to excuse this distraught feeling within ourselves, and keep reminding ourselves that it is our peculiar nature to worry, that we are more sensitive in this respect than others. And all the while we go on leading lives that are miserable, because of the blight of worry that fills our souls!

To be sure, we recognize the futility of worry. We know perfectly well that anxiety over the circumstances of our life does no good whatever; we keep telling ourselves that worry is a waste of time, that it accomplishes no purpose whatever, except to make us miserable within. Being sane we present ourselves with the argument that worrying over a situation cannot possibly change that condition one iota.

THEN WE GO on and chastise ourselves by making ourselves realize that worry is forbidden by Christ, that worry is a deliberate sin on our part. We look worry directly in the face and we admit that worry is fear, it is terror within, it is actually a lack of faith and trust in God. Then we worry over the fact that we, who are blood-bought in Christ, actually show such a terrible lack of faith and confidence in our Christ. Worst of all, we candidly admit that anxiety over the events and happenings of our life is nothing but just plain unbelief.

But, what to do about it? Thank God we can do something about it. And the thing to do is to turn to our heavenly Father and to think about him for a moment! Jesus reminds us that God, our Father, still rules the universe. Our Savior so beautifully assures us of this fact by reminding us of the birds who do not sow or reap, but who are fed by our heavenly Father. Jesus points us to the lilies of the field and their beauty, and assures us that God causes them to grow and to thrive in beauty, and that even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like the lilies we see about us.

SINCE GOD unquestionably still rules the universe, then it follows most assuredly that God is greater than any event or misfortune which may or may not come in our life. With God ruling over us, nothing happens to us by luck or chance; truly there is no such thing as luck or chance with God. God controls all the events in our life, and our God promises that he will provide for us, take care of us, so long as it is his will to give us life on this earth. Such thinking will rid our hearts of this terror of worry.

Then we need to remember that God who controls the universe allows only those things to happen to us which will be worked by him for our good. Thus when we trust our heavenly Father, miseries become blessings, crosses become crowns, sorrows become joys. Since God ever keeps His eye on our eternal welfare, and thus directs and guides the events of our life so that we are drawn closer to him and our appreciation of the eternal blessings in Christ becomes greater — what, pray tell, is there to worry about?

Let us continue to seek the kingdom of God and God's righteousness that he has provided for us in Christ. Then ours can be a life of serenity, peace, calmness within. Then worry will be cast out.

Rev. Eyster To Present Interview at Assembly

An interview with a World Council of Churches figure, Methodist Bishop Richard C. Raines, will be the program for the Epworth Methodist Church radio broadcast tomorrow at 9 a.m. over Station WMRN. Head of Indiana Methodism, the bishop is a world traveler and is chairman of the World Council committee on evangelism now in plenary session at the world assembly at Evanston. In the broadcast his report on the work of the 100 delegates in the evangelism section will be heard, together with comparison between this second assembly of the World Council of Churches in relation to evangelism and the first assembly held at Amsterdam, Holland in 1946. Rev. Eyster has attended sessions of both the first and the second assemblies and is in Evanston now enroute home from his vacation trip to the western states.

REX MORGAN, M.D. — By Dal Curtis

THAT'S WHAT WE'LL DO, JUNE! WE'LL CLOSE THE OFFICE FOR TWO WEEKS FOR VACATION!
HAD YOU MADE ANY PLANS AS TO WHERE YOU'LL GO?
I WAS THINKING OF PLEASANT-VIEW! IT'S RIGHT ON THE LAKE!
THAT WOULD BE A WONDERFUL SPOT! OLD COLONEL BERT AND HIS WIFE RUN IT, DON'T THEY?
YES, THEY'RE A LOT OF FUN! WHAT DO YOU THINK YOU'LL DO, REX?
I'M GOING TO STAY HERE IN TOWN—PLAY A LITTLE GOLF—AND JUST RELAX!

Village's Manager Hits Parasite Label

CHICAGO (UP) — John Scott, village manager of suburban Park Forest, Ill., disputes the idea that suburbs are economic drags on the cities they surround.

Scott voiced his opinion in an article entitled "Are Suburbs Parasites?" published in Public Management, monthly magazine of the International City Managers' Association.

Scott disputed the idea that suburbanites travel to the big city each day, use its streets and facilities, earn their money in the city and tuck it into their pockets, thus removing the city's source of wealth.

He said he does not discount the problems facing big cities, and agreed that some solution such a contractual arrangements or annexation must be worked out. But he denied that suburbs are not paying their own way. He used these points to support his argument.

1. Suburbanites who work in the big city provide labor that makes wealth for commerce and industry, which in turn pick up most of the tab for public services rendered city residents.
2. Suburban residents pay for their own services. Park Forest's tax rate is considerably higher than Chicago's.
3. Cook County, which includes Park Forest, takes out of the village almost half as much tax income as the village has to operate all its own services and offers little in return.

If any governmental unit is a parasite Scott said it would appear to be the county.

Albany Medical College Sets Up Video Systems

ALBANY, N. Y. — (UP) —The Albany Medical College is one of the first institutions of its kind in the nation to install television for teaching purposes.

The system provides 160 students with views of operations and laboratory demonstrations. It is set up in the college's auditorium.

The screen is a 6 x 8-foot affair. An audio system enables viewers to ask questions of the surgeon during televising of surgery.

TOO LONG

LEWISTON, Ida. (UP) — The long arm of the law reached out a little too far. Patrolman Charles Straight said his outstretched left arm was struck and numbed by a passing auto as he was directing traffic.

Someday we hope to read a book about a private eye who doesn't make it clear on about page 25 that he has nothing but contempt for private eyes in books.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Be Master of Your Own Life

DR. PEALE

Alexis Carrel, the great scientist, once wrote his description of man: "Despite all the immensity of the natural world, it is not big enough for man. He is the size of the terrestial mountain, the oceans, the rivers; and there is within him another world that divides the barriers of time and space and if his will is indomitable he may walk in the eternal cycles."

Those are majestic words and they express an equally majestic idea, namely, that you are wonderful in your potentialities and capacities. The Psalmist says, "What is man, that thou are mindful of him?" And goes on to add, "Thou hast made him a little lower than the angels. . . . Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands."

Yet, all too few of us realize that by the grace of God and the power of faith we are capable of taking dominion over life instead of being dominated by it. So forgetful are we of this fact that we get a real thrill when we meet someone who dominates his job and his daily life instead of letting it dominate him or when we see how magnificently others meet the everyday problems of living.

—:—

I WAS STAYING in a San Francisco hotel, where I struck up a conversation with the chambermaid. She was past middle age and impressed me as an unusual person. As I observed her in the days spent at the hotel, she always seemed cheerful and happy, and I was curious enough to ask, "You are always happy even though you work hard doing these rooms. How many do you have to do each day?"

"Sixteen," she replied, "with two beds in every room."

"Thirty-two beds to make—and that many rooms to clean! That's work," I commented.

"Nothing hard about it," she answered, "I come here in the morning knowing that I have sixteen rooms to do. I go at them and pretty soon they're done. That's all there is to it."

Simple? Of course it is. But I liked it. Here was a truly wonderful human being who was master of her own life. I have met so many people who are overwhelmed by their jobs even before they start. They make their work extra hard for themselves in their thoughts, before they even undertake it. They build up obstacles constantly.

ONE THING WRONG with a great many people is that they let life overwhelm them. Problems, conditions and difficulties add up until they crush the spirit. People become tired and depressed, and eventually they are defeated by circumstances and problems. In short, life masters them.

But people are designed to be big and to live on a big scale. They are intended to have sufficient power to control their work and life. Everyone should have a sound respect for his own powers. Many years ago, someone told me about a man who offered an unusual prayer every morning. It ran something like this. "Oh, Lord, give me a high opinion of myself." Of course, it may occur to you, as it does to me, that some people have this high opinion of themselves without the necessity of praying for it. But, on the other hand, most of us tend to underestimate ourselves. As a result, we let life's difficulties defeat us.

The technique of dominating your life instead of letting it dominate you is to accept the valuation of yourself as one whom God created in His own image, and to whom He gave dominion. Realize that you have God-like and God - given powers within you. Eliminate all thoughts, attitudes and actions that tend to frustrate your inner spiritual powers. Believe that you are able to be master of your own life and all its problems.

Cardington

In a wedding ceremony at Cardington Aug. 18, Miss Gloria Jane Hoffman of Akron, formerly of near Edison, became the bride of Robert S. Corbitt who is stationed with the U. S. Army at Fort Hood, Tex. She is a daughter of Robert J. Hoffman of near Edison and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Enos Pennington of Akron. Her husband is a son of Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Corbitt of Cardington.

The double ring service was read by candlelight at 7 o'clock in First Church of the Nazarene at Cardington by Rev. A. Eugene Clark, pastor of Salem EUB Church near Cardington. Mrs. Evelyn Click played nuptial selections, and Miss Dolores Hough of Caledonia sang three numbers including the "Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

Entering the chapel escorted by her father, the bride wore a beige faille fitted suit and a small hat of soft beige straw trimmed in beige satin streamers. A cousin of the bride, Miss Venne Mae Pennington of Akron, was maid of honor. She wore a street-length dress of thistle pink silk and carried a bouquet of pale yellow and orchid gladioli.

Best man for his brother was James Corbitt. James David and Tim Hardman of Cardington served as ushers.

Lighting the candles were Miss Martha Carol Corbitt, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Sheryl Joy Hoffman, sister of the bride.

Home of the Corbitts on Chesterville Rd. in Cardington was the place of the reception following the ceremony. Serving the 60 guests as assistant hostesses were Mrs. Devota Burggraf, Miss Betty Bowman, Mrs. Korena Hoffman, and Miss Gloria Burggraf.

At the rehearsal, the bride's attendant and soloist were presented pearl earring sets and the gifts to the men of the wedding party were fitted traveling case and billfolds.

After the reception the couple left on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Canada, and the eastern states.

Graduated from Edison High School, the bride is employed in Akron. Her husband, a graduate of Cardington High School, was an employe of the North Electric Mfg. Co. in Mount Gilead until the time he entered military service a year ago. He is stationed with the 4th Armored Division at Foot Hood.

Previews of the Coming Attractions at the Local Theaters

VAN HEFLIN and Anne Bancroft are two of the stars of the historical drama, "The Raid," a first run technicolor attraction billed for Wednesday through Saturday at the North Drive-In Theater.

First-Run Historic Film, Cantor Story Booked at Drive-In

A first-run attraction opening Wednesday at the North Drive-In Theater will be "The Raid," a technicolor drama co-starring Van Heflin, Anne Bancroft, Richard Boone and Lee Marvin. It will play through Saturday.

The picture relates a little known incident in the Civil War, the burning and looting of St. Albans, Vt., by a small band of Confederate soldiers. It shows how the group of rebels escaped from a Yankee prison in Plattsburg, N. Y., went into Canada and from there infiltrated the town of St. Albans.

It depicts their mingling with the local citizens, their methodical planning for the sacking of the town and their daring in carrying out the mission, which was to avenge the burning of Atlanta by Union forces.

Sunday through Tuesday, the attraction will be "The Eddie Cantor Story," the life story of one of America's greatest entertainers and citizens who sang and danced his way from poverty to fame and fortune. Starred are Keefe Brasselle as Eddie Cantor and Marilyn Erskine as his wife, Ida.

Learning the Hard Way Considered Best System

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. — (UP) The question of whether playing a tape recording to a sleeping person will help him memorize something more easily still has no definite answer.

General Electric Co. scientists report that psychologists say that under certain circumstances a small amount of poetry or words may be learned in that manner, but there is no proof that the effect is a lasting one. There is also some question as to whether in such cases the sleep is real and natural or a sort of hypnosis.

JANET LEIGH and Tony Curtis steal a moment of romance while Torin Thatcher reminds the young outlaw knight of the impending battle in the above scene from the technicolor adventure of medieval England, "The Black Shield of Falworth." It will be shown Sunday through Wednesday at the Palace Theater.

Blinded Mechanic Operates Business

NEWARK, N. J. — (UP)—Next time you think your job is tough, try doing it with your eyes closed.

James A. Smith, 59, has been running his auto repair shop alone that way for eight years. He's blind.

Before sight left him at the age of 51, "Smitty" was an expert auto mechanic and had been his own boss for 18 years. His blindness restricted his business to selling gas from a hand-operated pump, charging batteries and servicing tires. But he makes a living for himself and his wife.

There are tricks of the trade he had to learn with his sightless-ness. For instance, he feels the length of the stick on his air pressure gauge since he can't see the markings.

Smith said he has a lot of loyal customers left, but some aren't so sympathetic to his handicap.

Recently one man bought some tires and while Smith was making change, the customer stole another $200 worth.

Several times customers passed off $1 bills as $10 bills before Smith worked out "my own system" for distinguishing them almost as well as change.

"A man must learn," he said.

Minister Gets Keys to Church In Court Order

Restraining Order Issued in Methodist Dispute at Defiance

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—A happy couple can get married today at St. Paul's Methodist Church here without fear the organ may be shut off in the middle of "Oh, Promise Me"

But it took a court order to provide that assurance

Ohio Methodist church leaders got a temporary court injunction yesterday saying the board of trustees and church officers may not interfere with the Rev Robert B Weaver, the man the Ohio Conference appointed as minister after the former minister, Dr Joseph C Richards, resigned.

Judge Acts

The temporary order was handed down by Van Wert County Common Pleas Judge Eugene McNeill

In asking for the order, the Ohio Conference declared it was necessary because the Rev Mr Weaver, who has on previous occasions found himself locked out of the church, had scheduled a wedding today The motion said Dr Joseph C Richards, former church minister now holding the post—created for him—of business manager, had warned the regular organist that if she attempted to play wedding music today he would turn off the current to the electric organ

Judge McNeill, sitting in place of Defiance County Judge H B Mulholand, a lay leader at St Paul's who stepped down for this case did not set a date for a hearing on the Ohio Conference's request for a permanent injunction

Attorneys Agree

The judge said attorneys for the two sides conferred yesterday and the local board's lawyers agreed to the temporary injunction if the action would not jeopardize their case

Ohio Methodist Bishop Hazen Werner assigned Rev Mr. Weaver to St Paul's at the last church conference at Lakeside and assigned Dr. Richards to another church at what Dr. Richards said was a $4,000 yearly salary cut

Dr Richards then turned in his minister's credentials St Paul's installed him as business manager, gave him the use of the parsonage and told the Rev Mr Weaver there were no funds available to pay the new minister's salary

Dr Richards claimed he was transferred because of a lawsuit brought by his brother against the bishop

Ohio Now Showing Story of Crusades From Middle Ages

"King Richard and the Crusaders," adapted for the screen in Cinemascope and color from an adventure tale by Sir Walter Scott, opened today at the Ohio Theater and will play through Wednesday

Rex Harrison Virginia Mayo, George Sanders and Laurence Harvey are starred Harrison portrays the role of the Sultan Saladin, the leader of the Moslems in the 12th Century wars, with invading Christians led by King Richard the Lionhearted, portrayed by George Sanders Virginia Mayo is seen in the role of the king's niece and Laurence Harvey portrays the part of the knight errant, Sir Kenneth

The story concerns the attempt of King Richard, leading a combined force of all the Christian nations of the 12th Century to recover the Holy Sepulchre from the Moslems The Crusade leads from the castles of England through the doors of Oriental palaces to the battlefields of the Near East

Starting Thursday will be Jack Webb as Sgt Joe Friday in the first feature-length production of "Dragnet," popular radio and television production It is in color and will be shown on the wide screen

Supporting Webb is Ben Alexander as Officer Frank Smith

"Dragnet" is reportedly the first story ever released by the Los Angeles Police Department's Intelligence Division for motion picture filming and is said to be based on the super-secret files of that department's crime records The case history of the "Red Spot" gang was used for the film.

Burke Will Hit Farm Policy, Unemployment

COLUMBUS Ohio (AP) — Sen Thomas A Burke (D-Ohio) says he will campaign intensively until elections in November and his main issues will be unemployment and farm problems

Burke seeks election to the last two years of the late Republican Sen Robert A Taft's six - year term He is serving by interim appointment

Speaking to newsmen yesterday in his newly-opened central Ohio headquarters here he declard

"Farmers I've talked to in two or three counties aren't happy They realize fixed supports can't go on indefinitely in view of surpluses but they don t want the blow to fall all of a sudden '

Congress recently switched from rigid to a flexible price support program for basic crops

Burke said he doesn't think flexible supports will work because when support prices drop farmers boost production to try to maintain income—which only adds to the surplus responsible for the price drop

Not Quite That Personal

The editors of The Wall Street Journal were wondering a few days ago why White House advisers keep trying to convert President Eisenhower into a party politician. They pointed out that the President's charm as a public leader lies in his modesty, candor and breadth of compassion, and understanding—not in such unnatural poses as claiming credit for all the good laws passed by the 83rd Congress, or advocating election of Republican candidates for Congress.

Here is a dilemma in the party system that is going to puzzle many Americans this year who are less analytical than the editors of The Wall Street Journal. They are going to wonder why the best politics under the circumstances wouldn't be the least politics—why President Eisenhower should be expected to stoop to the time-worn tactics of the political stump.

The reason is clear.

The issue on the stump is not the political personality of President Eisenhower vs. the political personality of someone else but Republicans vs. Democrats in a contest to win majorities in the House and Senate. The personality of a chief executive is always involved in politics, but in a congressional election the thing chiefly involved is the contest between political parties.

The successful presidential candidate becomes by virtue of his success the actual as well as the nominal leader of his party. President Eisenhower has no choice but to perform in this intensely political role, even when it makes him seem to be out of character.

He is being urged by members of his party to delve even more deeply into the part of a partisan leader. Long before the congressional campaigns reach their October climax, President Eisenhower will be under pressure to out-Truman Harry Truman as the prime example of a chief executive who never let the White House interfere with partisanship.

President Eisenhower knows his responsibility to his party cannot be shrugged off to please those who would prefer to think of him out of political context. Had he chosen to be thought of out of political context, he could not have reached the White House under a two-party system of politics.

No Raw Turnips

When a congressional report on farm prices and the cost of food declared early this month that lower prices paid to farmers were not helping consumers because processing and marketing costs were higher, it was a safe guess the grocery manufacturers would be along soon with a statement.

Grocery Manufacturers of America, Inc. says cost of food after it leaves the farm is due largely to increased labor costs in processing, transportation and marketing, plus higher taxes. It points out that part of the cost of processing comes from consumer demand for more refinements, such as pre-cooking and better packaging. Americans have outgrown the raw turnip stage.

The Grocery Manufacturers also point out that efficiency has cut processing costs to the bone, or food would be costlier than it is. It disagrees with the congressional report's contention that "consumers can expect little benefit from lower farm prices unless recent tendencies to increase marketing and processing charges are curbed."

Competition will give consumers the benefit of any saving from lower farm prices and processing efficiency, according to Grocery Manufacturers of America. However, if wage rates, tax rates and transportation rates continue to rise, consumers can expect to pay for the increases, regardless of what may happen to farm prices.

The blame in that event could not be shifted to the food industry, which takes only three cents of the consumer's dollar as profit — half as much as it took in 1939. The blame would have to be placed on the well-known tendency of human nature to evade responsibility — to blame high food prices on farmers, politicians, grocery manufacturers and somebody's Aunt Nellie, instead of on everybody who has a hand in the food industry, including consumers.

Rhinitis

This is the year's darkest hour of rhinitis sufferers. All of us who know why their allergies are something to be sneezed at are full of sympathy.

They cannot be expected to buy the idea that calling hay fever rhinitis makes it easier to bear. They already are saddled with one misnomer, because what shatters then is not hay but a host of other pollinating vegetation, chiefly ragweed. Still, it sounds better to call it rhinitis than fever.

This is the time for them to earn sympathy. Drought has slowed down the ragweed but not enough for them to notice it. Their twitching, watering noses and itching, running eyes betray their sorrow. Their season of trial has opened and will not close until frost.

Perhaps if they survive it—and they always do—they will be the better for it. Suffering will toughen their souls. All that exudation surely will cleanse their bodies. There may be, then, some good purpose behind all that twitching and itching. But even if true, it would be no comfort. There is no comfort for rhinitis sufferers. They are the helpless heroes and heroine of the inflammation.

Election by Forfeit

By David Lawrence

White House View of Politics Is Unrealistic

A congressional campain is so utterly different from a presidential campaign that persons familiar with the strategies of political warfare are frankly amazed at the unrealistic attitude of the White House toward the coming elections for Congress in November.

The popularity of a president has little or nothing to do with the outcome. The local popularity of the Republican or Democratic nominee in each district or state has a great deal to do with the ultimate result, but mostly the campaign turns on the voter's feeling for a political party — his past affiliations and the grievances that may have made him turn away from his party. Voters are party-minded in congressional campaign.

The Eisenhower name will not be on the ballot, and only the Republican and Democratic party emblems will confront the voters in the polling booths, together with candidates' names which are largely unfamiliar to the average citizen.

No president has ever been able to transfer his own popularity or prestige or the weight of his own political strength to the nominees of his party in a congressional campaign. But an aggressive president who fights hard against the opposition party, and doesn't spend his energies fighting members of his own party, can help sway voters toward his party label.

The evidence from past campains, as privately appraised by party leaders in their postmortems after victory or defeat, points up the fact that the voters generally vote "against things" rather than for affirmative virtues.

THIS MEANS that often a party in power is continued in office not so much for what it has done but because the people are not yet ready to go back to the party they threw out—they are still "against" the party they previously defeated.

Voters are influenced by emotions and the pocketbook appeal. Even if they are somewhat dissatisfied on economic issues, however, they will often be swayed by emotional issues such as corruption in office or Communist infiltration or war.

What the Republican strategists have failed to do is to build up the prestige of the Republican party and to attack the record of the Democrats in the previous 20 years.

Eisenhower has soft-pedaled the attack and has said he wants to let bygones by bygones — a generous but naive attitude which is not being reciprocated by the Democrats, who are already reminding the voters that they consider the Republican party label that voters unemployment and depression.

It is a new confidence in the Republican party label that voters have to feel, as they need to be reminded and assured that there will be no return to the mistakes of the Truman administration.

The White House has given little inspiration to the party workers, and it is they and their organizations which get out the vote in congressional elections.

It could be that the Democrats will win Congress this time, not by virtue of anything they will offer to do, but by persuading people to vote "against the failures of the Republican party," as the attack is being vigorously presented by former Speaker Rayburn, and others.

THE NEGATIVE HABIT is well documented in the political history of America. The people voted "against the high cost of living" in 1910, when they elected a Democratic House of Representatives in the middle of a Republican president's term despite a splendid record of constructive legislation by Congress.

The people were "against war" in 1916 when they re-elected a Democratic president on a peace platform, but in 1918 they voted in a Republican majority in both houses in protest against wartime irritiations and against the action of the same president for having entered World War I.

Again, in 1920 the people voted "against the Democrats" on the war issue in resentment against American intervention in European affairs, and the same attitude — called "isolationism" then — continued to hurt the Democrats in 1924 and 1928.

Four years later the Democrats began swinging toward "isolationism" themselves, and Franklin Roosevelt, in order to be nominated by the Democrats in 1932, had to repudiate the proposal for entry into the League of Nations which he had espoused as a vice-presidential candidate in 1920.

The tendency to vote "against" was noticeable in 1932, when the people voted "against the Hoover depression." In 1936, 1940 and 1944, the negative attitude of the voters toward the Republican party was so intense on account of the memories of the depression that an oratorical reminder on the stump of the unemployment issue was enough to discredit the Republican candidates.

IN 1946, THE country voted "against meat controls" by the Democratic administration and elected a Republican congress. Truman in 1948, using an attack strategy of the "give 'em hell" variety, succeeded in convincing the country it should vote "against the do - nothing Republican Congress," and he won.

In 1952, the people voted "against Korea, Communism and corruption." Eisenhower was a satisfactory and popular alternative, but Taft could have won, too, on the negative tide that was rolling then.

This time the Republicans, led by the President, should have been strongly on the attack, reminding the voters of the issues which caused them to forsake the Democratic party two years ago. Instead, the Eisenhower administration has avoided the attack strategy altogether and is relying on what it calls a "positive" program.

It clings to the illusion that voters listen to high-brow speeches about the technical aspects of a legislative record. This is one way to forfeit an election.

Cotton Corners

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: You are welcome for the picture post cards. Your aunt and I had a lot of fun picking them out and sending them. I am reliably informed that the scene purporting to be of the rolling countryside east of here is for sale in dozens of communities—always the same scene. But the picture of the court house and flag pole is genuine, and so were the views of the downtown area.

This idea of pretending we are away on a vacation without being away has taken root. We are not going to abandon it without a struggle. In other words, we are convinced that being on a vacation is mostly a state of mind. The big idea is to get out of a rut and look at the grass. One day during our "vacation" we spent two hours reading aloud from "Romeo And Juliet." This is something your aunt has tried to get me to do for 40 years, and I always begged off because I said I didn't have time. Finally she cornered me.

It was fun. We are going to read "Hamlet" some Sunday night this winter. I told your aunt it was like walking down a street you had traveled in an automobile for years and seeing a thousand things you never notice when you go too fast. Even if I am not the world's best reader, I get the hang of "Rand J" better when I said it aloud, because that was the way it was designed to be used.

Twice this week we packed a lunch and drove until we found a roadside park that suited us. Both times we got acquainted with friendly people who were using the same parks for a midday outing. I didn't realize before how many elderly couples in this era of retirement use these parks while they are traveling about, visiting friends and relatives.

So we have decided there is no reason why we couldn't do things of this same nature throughout the year, instead of waiting for a special occasion. Of course, we have the advantage of being semi-retired. But it is my observation that a good many people who are retired all the way have let their ruts close in on them. They need to stir their stumps and look over the fence.

I do not know what to say about the beginning of school. I have gone over to the athletic field here a couple of times to watch the boys practice football. Even if it's the custom for boys and girls to complain about school, I have a hunch they don't mean it the way it sounds. Maybe you should spoof your boys a little about what they would be doing if they weren't going to school. Under no circumstances would I be concerned about their apparent reluctace to resume their educations, because I recall distinctly we had to put up with the same thing during the years when we were in charge of uplifting you.

Tomorrow we are going to spend all day at the lake. We have the Loomis cottage, if we want to use it—at least we have the key. I don't know why we would need the cottage unless the weather turned bad. While I am writing this there is a fine display of stars, and it should be a nice day tomorrow.

We may send you a few more cards if we can find some in nearby places. But you've had the entire assortment as far as local points of interest are concerned. In some ways, I believe this is the nicest vacation we've ever had, because this one can go on forever.

Arms Smuggling Plagues French

By Gault MacGowan

PARIS

French and North African security police are baffled by the smuggling of arms and ammunition into the hands of Moroccan terrorists despite stringent regulations and controls to keep them out.

The Moslem brotherhood is believed to be behind the purchase and distribution of the weapons. Smugglers bring them in to lonely beaches by night from the international smuggler's haven of Tangier or run them by camel over the southern desert borders, which the French cannot patrol adequately.

Most of the clandestine arms come from Czechoslovakia through Communist agents, but many are bought on the open market in countries such as Switzerland. Smugglers are hired from deserters from the Foreign Legion.

The Egyptians boast that arms for their revolution were smuggled from all parts of Europe. Purchases were made under false names and shipped under false manifests. They included all types of small arms required for street fighting and ranged from automatic weapons to rifles and hand grenades.

THE GREATEST demand in Morocco now is for antitank weapons needed by the terrorists for operation against French armored vehicles.

The same sources that supplied Egypt sought new markets as soon as the Egyptian revolution ended. They moved into Tunisia, and with the Mendes - France offer of domestic independence there, they switched to Morocco, where rioting began almost immediately afterward.

Deals with the Moslem brotherhood are made in Cairo. Most Westerners have forgotten Abdul Krim, Emir of the Moroccan Riff in the late 1920's. But this ex-monarch, now living in exile in Cairo is being courted by the smuggling czars as the ostensible power behind Moslem brotherhood operations in Morocco.

This forgotten man is sweating out his dreams of a speedy return to his throne in the mountains between Spanish and French Morocco.

The French have kept the Riff happy since the departure of Abdul Krim by enlisting them in large numbers in their corps of Goums, men who earned a great reputation in the war as night fighters and raiders in the North African and Italian campaigns.

THOSE WHO HAVE not enlisted are reverting to their traditional occupations of banditry, and robbery. Keeping arms away from them and other Arab nationalists is the major headache for the 2,000,000 Frenchmen living in North Africa.

These people and their families are still called colonists but they feel no more settlers than the people of New York or Chicago in relation to the Indians, for their ancestors crossed the Mediterranean from Marseilles more than 100 years ago.

What wounds the French population of North Africa more than Arab bullets is the feeling that many Americans expect them either to abandon their homes or stay on only at the mercy of Arab governments.

The French settlers suspect that, in the long run, these governments will be granted American loans with the result that the French are in process of being pushed out merely to make room for colonies of American traders.

THEY ARE WORRIED, too, about the new American aid program to Spain. The famous Oerlikon armament concern of Zurich is currently helping to re-equip 20 divisions of the new Spanish army. Though shipments of arms to Spain have been banned through France since the Spanish Civil War, Oerlikon has recently organized an air bridge that avoids France and cannot be controlled in transit.

The question is asked whether arms are not coming also by this route to agents of the smugglers in Tangiers. The Oerlikon concern supplies arms dispassionately to all buyers. Obsolete weapons from the Spanish army — replaced by the Oerlikon deliveries—are available to smugglers through international buyers of surplus material.

The French security forces in Africa would like to obtain an international agreement to stop the shipment of arms to the Arab world.

Egypt is planning an arms factory. When production begins, the present stream of smuggled arms to North Africa is expected to swell to a torrent of material to support mullahs preaching holy war for an independent federation of Islam.

Few and Far Between

By MARK DANA

Hardly a day passes without a press report about somebody fleeing from behind the Iron Country and finding asylum in the U. S. or some other country of the Western bloc. They are Poles, Hungarians, East Germans, even some Russians who somehow fail to appreciate the Great Life offered them at home.

Once in a long while, somebody from the West goes or returns to an Iron Curtain country, and this is hailed as exceptional news — which it assuredly is.

Quite a disturbance was caused recently by Dr. Otto John, West Germany's "FBI Chief," who went over to West Germany. Now he has been followed by a member of the Bundestag, or lower House of the West Germany parliament, and the situation has been so unusual even the Russians have made much of it.

Dr. John was a drunkard and a psychopathic case, maladjusted and unsocial and a frustrated hyper-idealist. Almost any action could have been expected of him. Yet Karl Franz Schmidt-Wittmack, the Bundestag Deputy, was an ordinary guy, mentally normal, apparently a pal of Dr. John but of different stripe. No doubt he has been undergrounding for the East Germany Communists a long time, and was promised more personal or political recognition East of Berlin than he enjoyed at Bonn and Hamburg.

Perhaps there will be other defections; many simply cannot be explained rationally, and more than we can ever justify the treachery of Benedict Arnold. Usually, there are no visible signs, no forerunner actions, to mark a traitor, a deserter, a criminal, until he commits an overt act.

These two defections, especially as contrasted to the large number of persons flocking into West Germany, to France, to England, to Canada and the U. S., cannot be generalized into anything significant. Just two men who for their own reasons preferred life under Communism to life under a democracy—and West Germany has a splendid democracy. Russia gets two persons and loses hundreds. The proportion is what counts most.

Company G, which served during the Spanish American War, had the distinction of having in its ranks the youngest soldier in service. He was Harry T. Love was a volunteer in World War I and served at Wright Aviation fields near Dayton. He died in 1918 at his home in Piqua.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Our Own Mundt Report

We, the members of the subcommittee investigating the Army charges against Joe McCarthy and his staff, admit this verdict is late due to wet rails, fog, political considerations, ornery routines by some committee members, dog days and the humidity. It was slowed also by the reluctance of some members to work after discovering they were no longer on TV. Boiled down we make these standout conclusions:

1. All committee members have recovered from TV fever and no longer are a threat to the ham industry, but they are somewhat depressed by the absence of fan mail during July and August.

2. The expectations of all members to get into television on a permanent money basis have been dissipated and only a couple still dream of even making the afternoon video shows.

3. It has been positively decided to urge that at all future hearings an electric sign flash the message about "expressions of approval or disapproval." The spoken routine got pretty monotonous.

4 Contrary to expectations, our hardest task has been not to find who is guilty in this hassle, but who is INNOCENT. We find so many errors, fumbles and violations of codes in the relationships between the Army and the McCarthy group that a calculating machine would be needed to total them up.

5. We find a photo finish between Secretary Stevens and Messrs. McCarthy and Cohn insofar as curious behavior is concerned. It is our conclusion that all parties were offside in numerous instances and that cases of running the wrong way with the ball were plentiful.

6. We think Secretary Stevens should never have played "The Man Who Came To Dinner" even at a Park Avenue little-theater production and we urge that in the future any secretary of the Army, involved however remotely in the aspirations of an Army private, respond to invitations to dinner with "Who me?" "Are you kidding?" or "No thanks, I just had a hot dog."

7. We find that Sen. McCarthy forgot to touch second, used the hidden ball trick, sandpapered the baseball, threw some illegal pitches and often came into the home plate spikes first, and we think that Roy Cohn could have been more gracious and even-tempered, making full allowances for the impatience of youth.

8. We find that Pvt. Schine had more trouble and more bad publicity through a fairly common aspiration to get the best possible break in the Army than any private in history, and suggest he could have done better in the Navy.

9. We close by announcing several committee members have special TV shirts and ties which they are willing to dispose of at a big discount.

Rex Harrison as the Sultan of Saladin and (hold your breath!) George Sanders as Richard the Lion-Hearted are hard to take in a new movie of the Crusades. . . Maybe the producer thought the novel was by Sir "Warners" Scott.

Native Dancer has been retired with a greater record than Man o' War, by one victory, but he will never capture the same place in public affection. First of all "Big Red" was a personality horse. . . He oozed power and glamor. He was a critter that commanded the spotlight as great actors and fighters command it. Also he ran up his great record in a day of fewer "counter personalities." . . . And he usually won by a city block, not by inches or a few feet. Native Dancer "The Gray Ghost" is a grand thoroughbred deserving of maximum praise and affection, but Man o' War. . . well, he had that extra sumpin'.

Antique Furniture Comes Heavy In Historic Newport Residence

NEWPORT R I (UP) — A $45,000 colonial desk is handsome enough but it isn t anything you'd want to move around for fun

Drop in at the Hunter House, one of the nation's most famous pre-Revolutionary homes The recently restored house—operated as a public exhibit by the Newport Preservation Society—is furnished with colonial antiques valued at nearly a half a million dollars

People who look at them say, "Wonderful magnificent Ah!" But that s because they're on the safe side of the ropes No one asked them to lug any of it around

I arrived too early The mansion which once housed two colonial governors, wasn t yet fully in order Holbert Smales Preservation Society director, led the way upstairs

'That s the bedroom where Admiral de Ternay commander of the French fleet during the Revolution, died ' he said pointing down the 200-year old hallway 'And this is the dining room table that belongs downstairs"

Smales dragged the 200-year-old table that looked as if it weighed a pound for every year to the top of the stairs, neatly blocking the only exit

'This stairway is solid San Domingo mahogany ' he said as the downward struggle began. "So's the table"

No one disputed it

"As we get past the landing" he went on gasping slightly under the table's weight, "you can see the entrance to the secret escape passageway in the hall"

Unfortunately, you couldn t reach it from there reach it from there.

Finally the table safely in place in the dining room, Smales led the way to a front parlor

'This is the prize of the house," he said patting an original seven-foot high Goddard desk valued at about $45 000 'But, you know, something this big ought to be in a more prominent spot I m thinking of moving it '

The rest was inaudible from the other side of the front door

Grist for Reds

By George Sokolsky

I have received, as I believe many others have, a mimeographed statemnt by Corliss Lamont. Usually these mimeographed hand outs hold little that need see the color of print, but this one contains enough to deal with in a column.

SOKOLSKY

Corliss Lamont is the younger son of the late Thomas W. Lamont who rose from a newspaperman, specializing in art, to be the senior member of the banking house of J. P. Morgan. He was, in his way, a genius in public relations, a man of wide reading and knowledge, but cynical toward the world as it was between World War I and Woird War II.

I once spoke to him about his son, Corliss, and he jestingly told me that come the revolution, Corliss will see to it that he is not hanged, which must have been some consolation.

ALTHOUGH THE Lamonts had become rich through the job in J. P. Morgan's money shop, they must not be regarded as a conservative family. Certainly Thomas W. Lamont, art critic turned banker, was closer to the ideas of Franklin D. Roosevelt than those of Herbert Hoover.

As a matter of fact, since 1929, Wall Street, as a stereotype, having lost confidence in itself during the early years of the depression, tended toward the New Deal to save the country from revolution.

It is not surprising that Myron C. Taylor made his secret deal with John L. Lewis which really gave the CIO its start, without the knowledge or consent of the other members of the steel industry.

Myron Taylor represented J. P. Morgan in the United States Steel Corporation, whereas the independent steel companies represented the opposition to Big Steel.

Lewis organized the steel industry and in the enormous battles that then occurred within the Iron and Steel Institute, it was the New Deal labor policy that triumphed because of the insistence of the Morgan firm which at that moment was being run by Thomas W. Lamont and an arch-New Dealer, Russell Leffingwell.

CORLISS LAMONT insists that he is not a Communist and he has written a book to establish that he is a socialist. His philosophic thinking is Marxist, secular and pragmatic. No matter how you put it, he has been consistently pro-Russian, writing many articles to establish his point of view.

He is now in contempt of the Senate for refusing to testify before Sen. McCarthy's committee and plans to take his contempt action up to the Supreme Court. In his release, he notes:

"In voting to cite me for contempt, the United States Senate has unfortunately failed to recognize that I was correctly upholding the First Amendment and the separation of powers in refusing to answer Sen. McCarthy's improper questions. It is regrettable that the Senate has decided to stand with McCarthy against the Bill of Rights and the Constitution.

"In yielding to McCarthy's pressure here, the Senate has missed an excellent opportunity to help curb the excess of the McCarthy committee and lay down proper limitations for Congressional investigations."

This paragraph seems innocent enough but it raises some interesting issues.

Corliss Lamont correctly avoids the Fifth Amendment, because it does not apply. He refused to answer questions, concerning what the Committee believed was a pro-Communist record, on the grounds of the First Amendment which deals with freedom of speech, of the press and of assembly.

BY TAKING THIS position, Lamont shifts the issue from himself to a general principle in American life. He even raises questions that will affect the bill passed by Congress outlawing the Communist party. The issue is: if an American favors the concepts of Marxism - Leninism without joining a conspiracy to make these concepts effective, or if an American is pro - Russian when no declared war exists with Russia, as he might be pro - French or pro-Greek, may his rights to speak, write, and assembly be impaired by any law under our Constitution?

This is a serious question because the Supreme Court might well decide that an overt act is essential. Unless, therefore, when the Lamont case comes to the courts, the government can establish an overt act, possibly in the nature of a conspiracy, Corliss Lamont may get off with a decision declaring him to be a windbag but not a conspirator.

This would give the Communists a propaganda advantage throughout the world and give the American Communists a new umbrella for their activities.

Trouble in Eden

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

Every paradise has its problem, every heaven its horror.

And now trouble has come to that Eden on the Atlantic, Southampton, the Long Island utopia of the wealthy, where high society gathers in summer to rest up before facing the ordeal of another grim winter season on Park Avenue or Palm Beach.

HAL BOYLE

Not that Southampton is any Babylon of the idle rich. Few of the rich there are idle. Above the soft wash of the surf, the sweet twitter of careless birds, rises a steady whispering sound—the rustle of scissors clipping off bond coupons. If one pair of scissors wears out, the dowager or financial titan immediately picks up a spare pair and the clipping goes on. What good is a bond — or a hedge — if it isn't kept neatly trimmed?

—:—

THIS PLEASANT papery whisper has been characteristic of Southampton for a couple of generations. But now a new sound has arisen.

Noisy newcomers have invaded the quiet village — women wearing Bikini swim suits, men in shorts or bathing trunks.

The bare sight of all this visiting epidermis is more than oldtime Southamptonites can bear.

"Very unattractive," complained Mrs. T. Markoe Robertson, mother of Angier Biddle Duke.

The head of the Chamber of Commerce says protests against the scant attire worn by these outlanders have come from "all walks of life" in Southampton. Presumably, this means that even the poorer millionaires are as outraged as the upper classes.

—:—

WHO ARE THESE invaders who flaunt their unclad abdomens and legs so brashly? One member of the Chamber of Commerce says they are "interlopers" from nearby low-cost housing projects, such as the one at Shinnecock Hills, who come to Southampton to shop.

Business may be business, but in this case the customer isn't always right. Not in staid Southampton, where anybody who shows money in public is regarded either as an impossible showoff—or a tourist, who took the wrong road. Bills are paid by cheque.

What can Southampton do to recover its dignity? Well, a public meeting is planned to discuss imposing an ordinance that would paste a $10 fine on anybody who comes into the village in attire that doesn't cover him properly from the shoulders to a point midway between the hip and the knee.

SOMETHING SIMPLY has to be done. The cops have already had to warn one man whose shorts were three inches too high, and a woman whose "halter had slipped beyond the danger point."

It seems to me that a $10 fine is a pretty feeble solution to this embarrassment, and a confession of weakness. It would be better for the dowagers to wear blinders or smoked lorgnettes on their trips to the village, and ignore the hoi polloi utterly.

Two other possibilities occur:

1. Make a real fight of it. Post butlers and gardeners, armed with pikestaffs and clubs, at the entrances to the village—and spear or whack down anyone approaching who doesn't wear formal dress. These tactics worked well in previous centuries. Why not again?

2. Show 'em by example. Let the prim dowagers and gentlemen of Southampton don Bikinis and loincloths and parade through Shinnecock hills and other communities, demonstrating that even THEY too, look unattractive when dressed as Mr. and Mrs. Tarzan.

They might even take a tip from the late Ring Lardner. Lardner once wrote of how a club of elderly Florida shuffleboard players met a similar invasion. The old folks at their annual meeting passed a resolution raising the dues from 25 to 50 cents a year "to keep the riffraff out."
